Bomb Attack Occasioned Much Damage To Military Targets

FIRES STILL RAGE IN PARTS OF CITY

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, July 20.—Rome was reported to have undergone a new air raid scare during the night as portions of the city still blazed from the terrific bombardment of the Italian capital yesterday by formidable American air forces.
The German radio broadcast a dispatch by the Nazi Transocean news agency stating that Rome had been hit but that the capital itself was not attacked. The all clear was said to have been sounded shortly after midnight.
The newspaper Dagens Nyneter of Stockholm reported that all persons in Rome not having necessary duties in the capital had been ordered to evacuate the city.
Important Places Spared
The center of Rome and all well known streets and monuments, according to Dagens Nyneter, had been spared in the bombing. Flames were said to be still rising from (Continued On Page Two)

Only a few days ago was St. Swithen's day, and the tradition about the weather has already been blasted.

Motorists have only the remainder of the present month to have their autos inspected. New state inspection tags are due at the end of the month.

When it started to rain hard one evening recently, a local man dashed under a store awning where a soldier was standing. "Are you from Transfer?" he asked the soldier. "No," was the reply. "I'm from Shennango and I've been trying to get transferred for 125 days."

With the 'Big Inch' pipeline completed and in operation, local auto owners have some hope of a modification of the drastic regulations that have held them for months in (Continued On Page Two)

Mutinies By Italians Commanded By Germans Are Reported

HUNDREDS IN SICILY SURRENDER

By PIERRE J. HUSS (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, July 20.—Many indications of mutinies by Italian troops commanded by German officers in Sicily were reported today by headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Word of the uprisings by Italian soldiers against the Nazi commanders was contained in a communique announcing continued advances by American and Canadian troops in the western and central sectors of the Sicilian battlefield.
Surrendering By Hundreds
Little resistance was reported in the west where the Axis forces were said to be surrendering by the hundreds.
The report of the mutinies was viewed as significant in the light of an assertion by the German "freedom transmitter" operated by right wing Germany army circles that Nazi soldiers were being "betrayed in Sicily." The broadcast, reported by Reuters, said that Nazi sentries were being stabbed in the back. It was said also that roads in Sicily were choked with refugees "who refuse to budge."

Gen. Eisenhower's communique said that Canadian troops in the central sector had come up against strong opposition but contained to fight their way forward.

Woman Shoots Her Sleeping Husband Calmly And Fatally

Wilmington, Del., Mother Of Two Confesses Voluntarily At Fire Station

(International News Service)
WILMINGTON, Del., July 20.—Convinced in her own mind that the father of her two children had been unfaithful, Mrs. Miriam Griffith today pointed a pistol at the head of her sleeping husband and twice pulled the trigger.

The weapon failed to fire. Calmly she adjusted the barrel and again pulled the trigger, discharging a bullet which instantly killed her husband, Albert, 36. Then the 26-year-old mother dressed her children—Alfreda, six, and Janet, eight—and walked to a nearby fire station where she surrendered and confessed to the crime as related above, police reported.
In her statement, Mrs. Griffith claimed, police related, that her husband returned home shortly after midnight and during an ensuing argument threatened her with his revolver. Later, she was quoted as saying, the argument died down, the husband locked the gun in his desk and went to sleep.

While she slept, Mrs. Griffith told authorities, she took the key to the desk, got the gun and went to her husband's bedroom and killed him.
She waived a hearing this morning and was held without bail.
While her daughters wept by her side, Mrs. Griffith told detectives her husband had beaten her throughout their nine years of married life. Griffith was employed at the Electro-Hose and Rubber Co., Wilmington.

OPA IN PITTSBURGH TO HEAR 34 MORE FOOD PRICE CASES
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 20.—Thirty-four additional cases were scheduled for hearings before OPA authorities today involving Pittsburgh district retailers charged with selling food items at higher than ceiling prices.
Eight retailers yesterday were penalized with suspensions of five days to two weeks after a hearing before Commissioner Clifford Snider of the OPA's enforcement bureau. Seven other retailers were released with warnings against future violations.

Tregaskis Rides In Bomber Making Rome Attack; Tells Of Trip

EDITOR'S NOTE: Richard Tregaskis, ace war correspondent of International News Service, rode to the historic aerial attack on Rome aboard a United States flying fortress. His account of the raid in which particular pains were taken to avoid damaging church edifices follows.

ABOARD A FLYING FORTRESS OVER ROME, July 19—(Delayed)—The bombs from American flying fortresses dropped on Rome thundered down on their target within a rigidly confined area.

The pilot of my ship is a devout Catholic but he carried out his job over the eternal city cheerfully, knowing the degree of precision attained by our bombers and confident that religious centers below would go unharmed.

Riding in the nose of this fortress in the second wave which attacked the San Lorenzo railroad yards—the nerve center of transport to Sicily—I watched the effect of the bombs dropped in the designated area.

By LEE VAN ATTA (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, July 20.—Yank forces on New Guinea Island in the Solomons today drove closer to the Jap airbase at Munda after scoring a "limited advance" to enlarge their beachhead at Lillo, three miles east of Munda.
A communique from headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur said that 179 Jap troops were slain in the American attack and that our losses were light.

Sharp Clashes
Sharp clashes also were reported in the New Guinea battle area 700 miles to the west when forward elements of Allied troops marching on Salamaua encountered Jap units on the slopes of Mount Tambu in the Komati area. Between 80 and 90 Jap dead were counted in these skirmishes.

Both land assaults were supported from the air by dive-bombers and attack planes while other Allied craft hammered repeatedly at vital Jap bases in the Solomons and New Guinea.
Assault On Macassar
A formidable new assault also was made from the west on the Jap base of Macassar on the island of Celebes in the occupied Netherlands East Indies.

Asserts War With Japan Will Last At Least To 1949

By JOSEPH A. BORS (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Vice Admiral Frederick J. Horne, assistant chief of naval operations, declared today that the United States is planning on fighting Japan until at least 1949.

Horne made the statement at Secretary Knox weekly press conference as high ranking naval and government officials deplored the "wave of optimism" sweeping the country as the result of recent allied victories.

No Collapse In Morale
Horne declined to estimate the length of the European conflict and added that the United Nations should not bank on a collapse in morale among the Nazi armies.
"We are planning materials and ships for a war lasting at least until 1949," Horne said.

Later he was asked if his 1949 reference was for the Pacific war and he added that it was. He said that any estimate on the length of the European conflict was "entirely guess work."
The discussion on progress and the length of the war began when a reporter opened the conference by asking now whether he could give any estimate of the length of the war.

Foolish Talk
"There has been an awful lot of foolish optimistic talk about the early ending of the war because military operations have been going along very gratifyingly," Knox replied.
"Nothing could be worse for ultimate victory than to promote the idea that the war is completely over because of relatively minor successes in the early stages," Knox added.
Charles E. Wilson, executive vice-chairman of the WPB, was present at the conference and warned that

Red Army Is Making Gains In Orel Drive

Report Advance Of Four To Six Miles Liberating 130 Towns And Villages

NAZI RESISTANCE NOW DESPERATE

By NATALIA RENE (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, July 20.—The furious Red army drive toward the pivotal Nazi operational base at Orel, 200 miles southwest of Moscow, neared a climax today after main bodies of the Russian forces advanced four to six miles in wide sweeps which liberated 130 towns and villages.

The new gains were scored in the face of desperate resistance by the Germans, who rushed reinforcements to the front and launched 12 unsuccessful counter-attacks which cost the Nazis heavy new losses in men and materiel.

(A dispatch from Moscow reported by Reuters said the Russians have captured Linskoye, seven miles north of Khotinsk, key station on the vital Orel-Bryansk railroad line 38 miles west of Orel.)
Widen Wedge
(Soviet) forces northwest of Orel considerably widened their wedge in German positions. It was said One Soviet column advancing eight or nine miles east of the Vityeb river captured the towns of Ukolitsky, Kireyevsk, Sridichy and Medveki along a front 12 miles wide.

Among the inhabited localities overrun in the Soviet advance was Malo-Arkhangelskoye, an important railroad point between Orel and Kursk, 50 miles south of the big Nazi base. Seventy of the newly captured towns and villages were (Continued On Page Two)

Rome Reports Damage Heavy

(International News Service)
ROME, July 20.—(By Official Italian Wireless)—Damage caused by American bomber formations composed of several hundred four-engine planes, which attacked Rome for three hours yesterday was very heavy, the Italian high command said today.

The communique said that casualties included 166 killed and 1,659 injured. Regarding the fighting on Sicily the high command said that "pressure in Sicily is being tenaciously maintained."

The heavy damage in Rome, the Italians asserted, included the wrecking of "sacred and cultural monuments."

Food Head May Get More Power

Believe President To Confer Greater Powers Upon Administrator Jones

SEEK TO INCREASE FOOD PRODUCTION

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Official circles today predict that President Roosevelt is ready to confer greater powers on Food Administrator Marvin Jones in order to increase food production and effect greater simplicity in its distribution to the armed forces and civilian population.

One official said that the president will give Judge Jones complete authority over food production, its distribution and rationing, and widespread price-fixing powers over producer and consumer markets.

This was the power the congressional farm bloc sought for former Food Administrator Chester Davis, before he resigned late in June in protest against the president's program for using subsidies to raise farm prices. Davis also complained that "divided authority" hampered his efforts on the food production front.

Take Part Of Davis' Advice
Now the president is reported ready to take one part of Davis' advice and give his food administrator authority not only over production on the farm but over regulation of its consumption. If so, this would strip OPA Director Prentiss Brown of some of his present powers over rationing and price-fixing.

Railroad Yards In Rome Destroyed

(International News Service)

CAIRO, July 20.—Reconnaissance photographs indicate the great Littorio marshalling yards in Rome, one of the chief objectives of the first bombing attack against the Italian capital, were "completely destroyed" in the raid the United States ninth army air force announced officially today.

Confirming that four-motored Liberators which participated in the attack alone dropped 330 tons of bombs in addition to those unloaded by Flying Fortresses and medium bombers from North Africa, the communique said.

"Aerial photography today indicated the Littorio marshalling yards were completely destroyed."

Army Bombers Attack Jap Base On Paramushiru

First Raid On Japan's Home Island Chains Since Maj. Doolittle's Raid

BASE ATTACKED IS NORTHEAST OF TOKYO

By JACK VINCENT (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 20. The navy announced today that a formation of army Liberator bombers attacked the main Japanese base on Paramushiru Island, only 1,200 miles northeast of Tokyo.

The navy said the raid occurred yesterday morning, apparently in good weather because "a number of fires were observed."

"In addition, Japanese ships in Paramushiru Straits were bombed and a number of near hits observed," the navy said.

Paramushiru is one of Japan's most important North Pacific bases and is at the end of a 700 mile island chain that leads southwest toward Tokyo.

Japs Bomb Canton Island

A spokesman said there also was evidence that a number of wooden buildings ashore were blasted by the American bombs in the first announced raid on this portion of the main Japanese empire.

At the same time the navy announced that on July 18 several Japanese planes "harmlessly bombed" American-held Canton Island, 650 nautical miles north of U. S. Samoa in the South Pacific.

"No personnel casualties or material damage was sustained," the navy emphasized concerning the raid on Canton.

This was the second such "nuisance" raid on Canton, which is an important island airfield stepping stone along the supply route from Hawaii to the southern Solomons and Australia.

Charge 28 German Born Persons Won Citizenship Falsely

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Trial was to open in federal court today for 28 German-born men and women, former members of the German-American Bund, as the government sought to strip them of the citizenship it charges they won through false claims.

First step in the trial, according to U. S. attorney, will be the government's attempt to show the Bund was a subversive body and a tool of Hitler, a charge not heretofore upheld in an American court of law.

The defendants, headed by Gottfried Karl Hein, 39, former San Francisco and Oakland Bund leader now serving a sentence for draft evasion at McNeil Island federal prison, are expected to plead they joined the group for social purposes.

Coal Strikes Being Probed

Government Investigating Recent "Wildcat" Tie- ups Of Coal Mines

U. M. W. LEADERS ARE SUMMONED

PITTSBURGH, July 20.—The steps through which an isolated "rump" meeting of several hundred mineworkers touched off a vast work rebellion embracing 25,000 men will be traced today by UMW field representatives as the government developed its inquiry into possible anti-strike law violations.

The latest contingent of witnesses subpoenaed are the "contact" men between the international union and the rank and file members of the United Mine Workers, and their interrogation is expected to determine just how sincere an effort was put forth by the labor executives to get the coal diggers back into the pits during the three-week outlast strike.

From District Four

Most of the field representatives hail from UMW District 4, including the traditionally troublesome Uniontown area, and their testimony will be reinforced by the stories of another group of miners who were ostensibly blockaded from entering the mines by persistent bands of roving pickets.

Approximately a half hundred of the latter have already given their reluctant testimony to the federal grand jury, but special assistant United States Attorney General Henry Scheinhaut declared 20 more are on tap for today's proceedings.

The calling of the UMW field representatives led to speculation that the government was as yet unconvinced of the absolute sincerity of the union leaders who publicly termed the Brownsville-California Pa. work stoppage an "outlaw strike instigated by hot-head renegades."

It was considered plausible by many court observers that the federal investigation was attempting to discover definitely whether the district leaders openly exhorted the men to "no their insurance and then secretly communicated "word" to them to prolong the walkout.

Such tactics it was pointed out, are not uncommon in organized labor circles and it was immediately recognized a continuation of the wildcat strikes would serve UMW President John L. Lewis and his aides with the purpose of "needing" the coal operators into granting a favorable work contract including the principle of portal-to-portal pay.

the ruins of targets in the San Lorenzo and Tiburtina districts, the most heavily bombed areas and "the death toll there was believed to have been high. Taxis, trucks and motorcycles were said to have been pressed into service to carry away the wounded.

Many districts of Rome were reported to be without water in a broadcast dispatch by DNE, the official German news agency. DNE said that among the dead were the commander-in-chief of Italian police troops and also a chief of staff, a Col. Barengo, who was killed by a direct hit.

The Rome radio later broadcast a Stefani news agency dispatch confirming that Police Chief Gen. Azolino Hazon was killed.

Estimate 500 Bombers

The London Daily Express estimated that at least 500 bombers in all participated in the Rome raid. The newspaper's air correspondent said he assumed that the north-west Africa air force dropped 350 tons of explosives and that the total weight of bombs loosed when Liberator bombers from the middle east swept in over the city reached 700 tons.

Rome's air raid sirens sounded just as Mussolini opened a special cabinet session attended by Crown Prince Umberto and Marshal Pietro Badoglio, the Daily Express said in a dispatch from the Italian frontier. The meeting was terminated immediately and all took shelter in a deep concrete cave, it was said.

production had let down recently mainly because of the wave of optimism that has swept the nation. Horne said that the navy's estimates on the war with Japan lasting at least six more years was not "pessimistic" but was based on the "tremendous distances we still have to go" in that war theater.

"We have to build bases from the ground up," Horne said. "One of our biggest difficulties is the way of optimism running through the country with every slight success. We don't get the ships at the time we expect to get them."

Wishful Thinking

"There is a good deal of wishful thinking in expecting a collapse of German morale," Horne added. "There is a difference in German psychology now compared with what it was in 1918. The youth of Germany is trained in Hitlerism and has little family affiliations."

Horne declared that the nation cannot expect a collapse in the Nazi army, "certainly not until we are on the continent itself."

Switching back to the Pacific, Horne said it was his belief that the United States now has a bigger fleet in that area than the enemy but he said that "we must have one twice as big" before we can defeat Japan.

Horne emphasized that the nation's airforce also must be twice as large as Japan's to assure victory due to the fact that this nation has to spread all over the ocean whereas the enemy is working on interior lines.

Must Pay Heavily

The admiral pointed out that America must but this gigantic fleet because we must expect to pay heavily for the price of attack and warned that losses will be great once we hit Japan's main bastions, such as Truk.

Knox interposed by stating that it is much wiser to over-estimate than to underestimate the length of the war.

"That's the danger we are in now," Knox said firmly. "I have found no single well-informed military man who has any idea the war is nearly won."

"Most military men use the same expression—that we have made a good start. We have broken down the enemy's outer defenses but we haven't started to dig into his main fortresses."

The secretary added that it was "just silly" to talk about winning the war with Hitler in complete possession of the European continent.

Knox stated that Nazi manpower and materiel are far from exhausted. He warned that Hitler probably has the best trained army in the world.

war, completion of the Texas-to-the-east pipeline yesterday will free other transportation mediums. Thus, he disclosed, railroad tank cars and tank trucks will be pressed into service to haul supplies into the east, thereby easing the gasoline shortage there, but at the expense of the mid-west.

Another step to be taken as soon as possible, according to the OPA, is to increase the allotments of gasoline for business and other means of public transportation. It was pointed out that essential transportation in the east has suffered to such an extent that OPA officials feared breakdowns which would have greatly interfered with war production.

May Restore Part of Cuts

The OPA spokesmen asserted too that restoration of part of the cuts in values of "A," "B" and "C" gasoline coupons in the east was a distinct possibility.

This would be accomplished through "equalizing" the value of coupons in the east with those in the midwest and southwest. Coupons outside the eastern shortage area have a uniform value of four gallons.

In discussing the petroleum outlook, officials were careful to point out that military demands still have the highest priority on petroleum and products flowing into the east, and that their predictions are based on no unusually large or sudden demand for gasoline by the armed forces.

Further, they declared, it is essential that winter fuel oil stocks be built up in all areas east of the Rocky Mountains during the summer months and all transportation methods must be used for this purpose.

seized by Russian forces moving on Orel from the north, 40 by Columbus closing in from the east and 20 by Soviet troops approaching Orel from the south.

Seventy-two Nazi tanks and 97 German planes were added to the toll exacted by the Russians on the blazing Orel front. One Soviet unit alone in the last four days destroyed 150 enemy tanks and 34 self-propelled guns and captured 30 mobile guns and 13 truckloads of ammunition, according to the Moscow mid-night communique.

Wipe Out Germans

In another sector of the same front, a Soviet unit wiped out several hundred Germans, took 215 prisoners and captured 12 field guns, two anti-tank guns, 43 machine-guns, an ammunition dump and a medical supply store. One Russian tank company annihilated a battalion of motorized German infantry in a single battle.

Earlier, it was officially announced that Soviet tank units had penetrated deeply into the enemy's rear as Russian forces before Orel consolidated their positions in preparation for the final assault on the Nazi base. The bulletin placed the Russian forces within 12 miles of their objective at one point and said the Soviets were maintaining air superiority amid "unprecedented" aerial warfare.

In Belgorod Area

The midnight bulletin reported continued intensive patrol activity in the Belgorod area to the south. Sappers were credited with destroying hundreds of German tanks, armored cars and about 200 motor vehicles carrying troops and ammunition in the Belgorod sector since the start of the German drive against the Kursk salient July 5.

Here one detachment of Soviet sappers blew up 28 German tanks that had penetrated Russian positions and volunteer snipers were credited with the destruction of 11 more tanks.

The communique also announced the repulse of several fierce counter-attacks northeast of Novorossisk Black Sea naval base at the southern gateway to the Caucasus. The attacks, aimed at recapture of an important height now in Soviet hands, were "repelled with heavy losses to the enemy," Moscow declared.

PAY FOR VIOLATIONS

Hit Freight Yards

As we drew closer it was easy to see that the previous bombers had successfully confined their missiles to the Lorenz freight yards, missing the Vatican and three other religious shrines within a five-mile radius. Our bombs were dropped with equal accuracy.

From the first test briefing for this mission—preparations for which had been going on for months—it was emphasized that centers of religious worship must not be touched. On the target map carried on the plane certain small buildings had been marked in boldface letters: "Must on no account be damaged."

Those places included the Vatican, St. Maria Maggiore, St. John Lateran and St. Paolo Basilica.

The closest of these was St. John Lateran a little more than a mile from the Lorenz yards. However, the wedge-shaped mass of sidings running northwest and southeast into the Lorenz yards provided a clear marker in the bright sunlight.

None On Wrong Side

Watching this silver streak, I observed that the smoke from the previous bombing rose in a straight line to the east of it, and none of the bombs we dropped in our group appeared to fall to the west, or on the Vatican side of that line. The winding waters of the Tiber river served as a further check as the Vatican is on the west side of this river and I specially kept a close lookout to see that no bombs fell on the wrong side.

Within the target area there were such objectives besides the railroads as a steel manufacturing plant, a chemical plant and two other industrial plants. These all were covered with stale dust and fresh erupting blobs of smoke from new bombs that were being dropped.

The targets of other groups of planes were the Littorio freight marshalling yards, eight miles north of Lorenz and the Ciampino airfield, southeast of the city.

Smoke Screens

Anticipating such attacks on the airfields and other installations, the Italians had laid two smoke-screens which we saw as we made our run, but these were not confused with the smoke over our targets.

The cloud of smoke indicating the location of the Lorenz yards was an ugly mushroom of white topped with black and the underside hovering like a jellyfish over the dust covered target area. When our bombs fell the area bubbled with new flame and smoke.

All the way into the target coal black flak fanned across our path but we went straight on. A few single enemy fighters struggled along with us as we approached and left the Italian shore, but they were disinclined to come near enough even to see us distinctly.

The experiences of the other crews appeared typical—the Italians would not attack.

consumers. The final program may be called "production incentive benefits" but the cash will be handed the farmer out of general taxation, while consumer prices are held stationary. In some instances, there may be "roll-backs" of present consumer prices, where recent increases do not seem justified.

Final Decision Delayed

A final decision has not yet been reached over the method of paying the subsidies to farmers. One proposal is for the food administrator to purchase farm products at one price—current market price plus incentive—and then to sell the product to distributors at the current ceiling price, with the government standing the loss.

This official also predicted a relaxation of numerous food restrictions and regulations, with retention only of those regulations necessary to prevent hoarding and black market operations. There were possibilities that the president may or may not cancel numerous rationing restrictions and a limitation of food rationing to the 15 or 16 most important food items. This plan long has been advocated by Bernard M. Baruch, recently named a special adviser to his old friend, James F. Byrnes, the "deputy president."

We shouldn't take revenge, but merely fix the others so they can never take any.

Are folks canning radishes? An amateur gardener from town kindly helped a couple to work their Victory garden near East Brook. Corn, beans, tomatoes, etc., are doing fine. Among the growing vegetables was a splendid crop of radishes. The amateur gathered them all, about a bushel basketful, placed them on the back porch and left for the day.

One of the most patriotic neighborhoods in the whole city is Cunningham avenue, which has a great number of its young men in the service. Many of the residents along the street have erected flag poles, made from various materials, and have painted them. Here Old Glory flies daily in honor of the boys who are away.

darkness. Many fires visible for 80 miles were started along the waterfront, in the factory area and among air-drome installations.

The attack on Macassar, involving a flight of nearly 2,000 miles, was the second against that base within a month.

Bombers Over Solomons

Both heavy and medium bombers ranged out over the Solomons to the Bougainville area to blast anew the Kahili and Ballale air-dromes in the Buin-Faisi area. One plane was reported missing.

The communique amplified the first reports of the attack on Jap shipping in the Buin-Faisi roadstead July 18, announcing the destruction of eight additional Jap planes and the loss of six more Allied craft. The total of losses was placed at 21 for the Japanese and 10 for the Allies.

Advance On Munda

As the American ground forces advanced on Munda torpedo planes and dive-bombers attacked Jap positions north of the enemy airbase. Further north, in the Bairoko area, the same types of aircraft unloaded 28 tons of high explosives on Jap positions in support of American units moving south. Medium bombers dropped in over the area in the wake of the bombing assault to strafe Jap beach defenses extensively.

Heavy Allied units on a reconnaissance mission north of New Georgia bombed the Jap seaplane base at Rekata Bay on Santa Isabel Island.

WILL IT HELP OTHER TAXES?

Yes, Governor Martin, I am back of you 100% on your proposition of a Sales Tax for Pennsylvania, if it is used for school taxes, and the school tax is taken off of real estate, like they do in Ohio. But, if it is just to be another scheme to raise taxes and leave the other taxes where they are, I am not for it.

We could learn a lot of things from the way they collect taxes in Ohio.

WEISS-PROSSER WEDDING NEWS

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday morning in Highland United Presbyterian church when Miss Leone Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Weiss, Court street, became the bride of Ben M. Prosser, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Prosser, of Euclid avenue.

In the presence of a gathering of relatives and close friends of the couple, Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor, pronounced the service at 10 o'clock. He used the single ring service.

Mrs. Jay L. Reed, organist, played nuptial music during the ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding, a street length dress of poudre blue French crepe, with white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses and stephanotis and carried an heirloom kerchief of the Prosser family, for "something old."

Miss Zoe Weiss, sister of the bride as maid of honor, wore a yellow gabardine dress with Hindu brown accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias and stephanotis.

Corporal Jack Flansburg of the United States Marines, served the bridegroom as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Prosser left later for Lexington, Ky., and upon their return, will reside on Euclid avenue.

C. T. P. LADIES PLAN BREAKFAST AT PARK

Ladies of the C. T. P. of the B. and O. will gather at Cascade Park on Wednesday morning, July 21, for breakfast.

SANDERS-FALEN WEDDING IN CHURCH

Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Falen, nee Norman Jean Sanders, are on a short wedding trip to Buffalo, N. Y., and Niagara Falls, following their marriage, which took place on Saturday afternoon, July 17, in the First U. P. church. They will take up residence upon returning here at 318 Norwood avenue.

The couple was united in an impressive ceremony performed in the presence of a few relatives and close friends, with the pastor, Dr. S. E. Irvine, officiating before the prettily banked altar. Vows were exchanged at 4, and appropriate music was provided preceding and during the service by Mrs. Donald H. Eckles.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sanders of Highland Heights, who was given in marriage by her brother, Pvt. Robert H. Sanders, wore a street length dress of eggshell crepe, with white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was made up of orchids, and for "something old" she wore a bracelet, a treasured heirloom brought from England by her great-great grandmother, Miss Ruth Peterson as maid of honor wore a street length dress of aqua with white accessories, complemented with a shoulder bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Falen of R. D. 2, Ellwood City, had as best man his cousin, Edward C. Cable.

After a congratulatory period, a reception was held and a buffet lunch served. Aides included Mrs. Thomas Smathers, Miss Georgiana McNeen and Mrs. LeRoy Clark. The bride is employed at the local Bell Telephone Company, and the bridegroom is employed at the Sheet and Tube Company of Ellwood City.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Falen and son, Richard. Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Cable and son, Mrs. Wallace Cable, Mrs. Oran Stewart, Mrs. Dean Marshall and Mrs. Leonard Falen of Ellwood City, Mrs. Walter Patterson of Brentwood, Pittsburgh, and Miss Nancy Cooper of Tuscon, Ariz.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WAR DEMANDS CONTROL IN HOME

These times demand good citizenship. It is unthinkable that so many children should grow up to be destructive of property in the neighborhood, and inconsiderate of the rights of others and disregardful of constituted authority, while our choicest young men are offering their lives in defense of our country and our liberties, rights, and possessions. Indeed, some of the young destroyers in our midst have big brothers or even fathers among our country's brave defenders.

Wartime has rapidly increased the number of mothers working away from home and, therefore, the number of children left in the care of others or with practically no care at all. The child well controlled in an atmosphere of love and understanding by the mother is to that degree the better fitted to be safe physically and morally while she is absent.

Task Harder For Mothers

Wartime takes many fathers away from home, leaving sole responsibility with the mother for the children. How much harder her task and poorer her successes under such conditions if her child has not been taught obedience.

As I have often said in this column, we lay the best foundations for good citizenship by training the child about as soon as he begins to toddle in the unambiguous meaning of No in order to establish in him due respect for the rights of others and regard for constituted authority.

This teaching is most effectively done, I believe, by means of the good old fashioned spanking applied consistently by both parents. They should work according to a plan they have agreed upon, in a family atmosphere of understanding and love. Let me here emphasize this: Limit spanking to just a few situations for keeping the child from doing what you forbid, and not in order to get him to do what you want him to do.

Other Punishments

As soon as the child will stand where he is told, corporal punishment may be abandoned (at the age of three or four) and for effective punishment can be substituted by assigning the child to sit for a definite period doing nothing where he can be seen. Later there can be other effective substitutes. Having learned the alphabet of obedience at three or four he has a good preparation for obedience at ten or fifteen.

If you wish to read further on disciplining the young child, write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, and ask for my bulletin, "Teaching Tots Meaningful," enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

WONDERING

As a youngster looking backward at the landmarks of his boyhood, which he may not see again, since he's off for fame and fortune to the city miles away, So I turn in contemplation to a bygone summer day And I wonder is some youngster sitting where I used to be, And are the bluebirds biting as they used to bite for me?

Is some happy, barefoot urchin with a bobbin, line and pole And a can of worms beside him at my favorite fishing hole? Is that stream as rich with beauty as I think it was, today? Have the song birds left the woodlands just as I, or did they stay? Does that youngsters sit enchanted underneath that willow tree, And are the bluebirds biting as they used to bite for me?

Is it fact or is it fancy? Was the tinkling of the bells On the cattle in the distance quite as clear as memory tells? Is it just imagination, as I backward turn to look, That as made a stream of splendor of an ordinary brook? Is some lad as glad as I was back in Eighteen-Ninety-Three? And are the bluebirds biting as they used to bite for me?

Benny probably won't be heard from again until he says "I do."

This is a phrase borrowed from the marriage ceremony and used in the answer to the question "do you give up?"

Until that time he will be represented on the radio by Carlo Scorza, a man with a big voice and a small alibi.

In his first speech, Scorza said "Sicily is beautiful at this time of year... wasn't it?"

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:25. Sun rises tomorrow 5:47.

After some people hear the prices asked for some things they decide they didn't care very much for them anyhow.

We are finding a lot of things during this war that will be of great benefit to us in the future—if we win the war.

Many of the prisoners brought to this country from the dictator countries think they will have a good time here and may want to stay here.

Of course, Gerlie, the long distance telephone operator had achieved her position on the board by observing all the rules of the company, paramount of which is not to "listen in," but the other day a call going through her board from Berlin to Tokyo was just too much for her curiosity to withstand.

So she eavesdropped just in time to hear the voice from Berlin saying: "Hello, Tojo. I thought you would be in America in three weeks."

And Tojo answered: "So sorry, Adolph. Where you calling from—Moscow?"

Speaking of the trait of honesty in the average American, didja ever stop to reason that the average American hasn't the influence or authority to be worth bribing?

The soldier in this war will decide what kind of a world we will live in after the war is over. Politicians will have very little say.

Don't waste food! You may regret it later if you do!

Remember when the endurance test records were the national fact? Well, the one that has survived is matrimony.

Two men in the chemical warfare division were discussing a new inductee. Said the first: "Did you hear about Pete? He drank some sulphuric acid by mistake."

"Hurt him?"

"No," he said the only thing he noticed was that he made holes in his handkerchief every time he blew his nose?"

Up to sixteen a lad is a Boy Scout, but after sixteen he becomes a girl scout.

We read of a woman who said she was disturbed by squirrels rolling nuts around in the attic. Yaw!

Pay-as-you-go taxpayers have now taken up the study of arithmetic, to see if there have been any changes since two and two made four.

Example of intellectual snobbery: Working crossword puzzles with a fountain pen.

Salesmen have now reached a point where they can mention the price to the customer without stammering.

ANSWERING CURIOUS CYNIC: Judge a girl not by the dates she makes but by the ones she keeps.

Don't blame the cynic—the world would seem rotten to you, too, if you awoke every morning with a groan.

When a husband says he dislikes bridge, it's a sure sign that his wife is a better player than he is.

Widows are easily fooled by masculine sympathy, in reality the man is really thinking how lucky his wife is.

A lot of people will have to have the roofs of their houses repaired this summer or they will have no ceilings, no matter what the government orders along that line.

Some people don't have to have their noses lifted. Some ought to have them knocked down.

We heard of a man who dreamed all night about horses, but did not remember that he eaten hot dogs before going to bed.

The answer to most questions is "yes" or "no."

Group prejudice will end when no man feeds his pride by saying: "We are better than you are."

One for the Quiz Kids: When a hen scratches, how many licks does she hit with each foot?

And there are men who never raised anything but their hats.

If your wife can beat you playing it, it's a childish game.

It's easy to get into jail now. The easiest way is not to have an auto stamp sticker.

IMPORTANCE OF RE-DECORATION

"My only quarrels with my husband result from his penchant for crowding new furniture and furnishings inside our already over-furnished house while refusing to keep the outside decently painted or landscaped."

I realize, of course, that this is not the time to decorate, but my complaint is that it has been neglected for years and now it cannot be done."

Answer: I have a friend who repeatedly makes the same complaint. Her husband is a wild party artist. He likes to invite the crowd around her when it comes to buying liquor and hors d'oeuvres. He let a contractor go the limit in refurnishing the cellar as a recreation room with modernistic bar and an expensive radio with a built-in record-player for supplying the dance music. But number in Povich looks like a poor fellow.

Perhaps his indifference to its appearance results from the fact that his pet friends never see it by daylight. But his wife is so greatly embarrassed by its lack of paint and lawn grass and shrubbery that she refuses to entertain her own particular friends of the class that make daylight calls or come in for afternoon tea or bridge.

Of course, the most serious phase of such neglect is the fact that it lowers one's standing in the community. It also reduces, perhaps by a half, the market value of the property. Moreover, it is an expensive waste because lack of paint leads to rapid decay and lack of care to the earth and its plant life results in weeds, blights and pests that also cause rapid deterioration. Perhaps if you remind him of this, he may come to his senses.

Question: (1) Should a man precede or follow a woman in and out of a vehicle? (2) Is it correct for a woman to refuse gracefully a seat offered by a man in a street car?

Sally.

Answer: (1) He should precede her upon alighting and follow her upon entering, so that he may help her in and out. (2) No. She should accept it at the next station in which case she should thank the man and explain the situation.

Tomorrow—Introduction

TWELVE STEPS TOWARD SUCCESS

1. Keep your business troubles to yourself. Nobody is interested in the other fellow's reverses and the calamity howler finds no favor with the bankers.
2. Don't be afraid of dreaming big dreams. It won't hurt you to figure on owning a railroad, even if you have to compromise on a car from the low priced field.
3. In competition with others, give them credit for being smarter than you are and then work like sixty to prove they are not.
4. Spend at least ten minutes every day—7 days a week—reading some trade paper or text book that applies to your own line of work.
5. Make friends: the way to make friends is to be one—and remember, the best of friends wear out if you see them too frequently.
6. Get other people's viewpoints. Take advice but make your own decisions. Learn to take the facts, not opinions. Money naturally gravitates to the man who has the facts.
7. Don't wait for the other fellow to come to you. Go to him. When you want a favor, ask for it; then remember to somehow, some way, return it as soon as possible.
8. Never admit to anybody, least of all to yourself, that you are licked. Remember that at least one day in every seven is lucky. No one has all the luck and no one has all the hard luck. You keep your chin up, your luck will turn. It can't help it. If this is a natural law because this is a natural law of Gravity. To be successful, you must think Success.
9. If you have no money and little credit, capitalize on your personality. It pays to have nerve. People respect the man who has initiative and energy.
10. Don't toady. No one ever achieved success by being a boot-licker or a "yes" man. The world obeys the man who stands on his own two feet and looks squarely in the eye.
11. Be square even to the point of finickiness... and you will have mighty little cause to complain of a crooked world.
12. Be a booster. Cultivate the habit of saying nice things about people... truthful things. Everyone has his good qualities as well as bad. It is easier to find the good than the bad.

There are no men's beauty parlors, but after some men get out of a barber shop they look more like men than dogs.

We Americans are getting where we can talk of billions, billions and more billions with the ease and nonchalance of the government. We don't feel poor any more.

After a certain man we know got married he no longer wore socks with holes in them. You see, his wife taught him how to darn socks.

An inventor now says it is possible to go to the moon on a rocket. Then, what is he waiting for?

Soldiers to workers: "More of us will die when we go across if you don't come across."

We'll need smart leaders after the war. It won't be possible to solve problems by borrowing more money.

Patriots are the little people who keep silent about rotten favoritism rather than seem disloyal.

Chiang Kai-Shek Speaks For World Police
Critics Believe Plan Would Be Unworkable
Say Confirmed Criminals Can't Be Policed

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Chiang Kai-Shek, China's generalissimo, is the latest booster for an international police force to keep worldwide peace after the present war is over.

Inasmuch as Mme. Chiang is just home after her extensive Occidental tour, plenty of guesses are made that she inspired the Chungking executive's very recent appeal to the United Nations' various leaderships for an advance pledge of devotion to such a program and to co-operation in its favor beginning right now.

It is a plan that has been quite frequently suggested by European statesmen heretofore and Chiang's advocacy of it may prove to have given it quite a boom as it circulates in the diplomatic capitals' miscellaneous midst.

Nevertheless, the plan's opponents are not unheard from, either. Its critics find fault with the scheme, not on the ground that it would not be a blessing theoretically, but on the basis of the contention that it could not possibly be made to work in practice for more than a scant generation, if that long.

Certainly it is not endorsed by any of the Axis countries. They want conquest of the democracies. If licked, they may stay licked for awhile, but the proposed police force's mission will be to police THEM, rather than to have them as participants in the policing of the whole bunch.

The supposition is that they are criminals—to BE policed.

Criminals do not STAY policed any longer than they can help it.

The Axis folk today have four leaderships—Fuehrer Hitler's, Duce Mussolini's, the Japanese military class' leadership and a rather flabby leadership in Spain, by Caudillo Franco.

Adolf doubtless can be personally extinguished, but will that extinguish Germany's essential ambitions for far to come? The historical gamble seems to indicate a negative. Italy, considering its acquiescence in Mussolini-like, looks questionable. Benito, like Adolf, personally can be squelched, but Italy's record suggests that his countrymen might fall victim again to some other would-be Caesar. Spain is not altogether reliable either, or it would not have fallen for Caudillo (Continued On Next Page)

FOSTER AGAIN

The only thing that makes the statement by William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist Party, take on the slightest similarity to its own similarity to state-ments made by some of the high ranking union leaders in expressing their dissatisfaction with the Smith-Connelly anti-strike bill. Foster called the law "the most sinister piece of legislation adopted by Congress in one hundred years."

He went on to charge that "there is a defeatist bloc in Congress that is working for a negotiated peace with Hitler and trying to sabotage the war effort." He named former President Hoover and a few assorted Senators and Congressmen as members of this "bloc."

A few of the higher union bosses have voiced substantially the same views, and the question now arises as to who took the line from whom. Some of the old Communist Party platform planks recently have shown up in the demands of certain factions of some of the labor unions—notably the twenty-five thousand dollar salary limit—which cannot be blamed for reaching conclusions.

Foster's charge that a "defeatist bloc" including Mr. Hoover and Senators Taft, Vandenberg and others, is seeking to negotiate peace with Hitler is, of course, the height of absurdity. There has been nothing in the actions of these men to indicate any such thing.

On the contrary, their whole effort has been directed to stop the policy of appeasement of all the divergent political elements from which it hopes to draw 1944 support, and get on with the war. These men have dared to question policies which they believe to be wrong. They have suggested courses which they believe to be right. They are conversant with the problems which concern them and it not only is their right but their duty to strive to eliminate from the national government these forces which are hampering the war effort.

Foster did not remind the country that his followers did everything within their power to sabotage this nation's war effort and prevent our aiding the Allies until Russia got into the war. He did not recall that the Communist slogan, until two years ago, was "The Yanks Aren't Coming." And now he has the unutterable gall to talk about "obstructionists" and "defeatist blocs."

The Third Brain Trust

WASHINGTON, July 20.—THE TERM "Brain Trust," like the term "Kitchen Cabinet," is of uncertain origin, but it was derivatively used to describe a certain type of adviser in politics and public affairs long before Mr. Roosevelt became president. As far back as 1917 a group of young men around the late Governor Ritchie of Maryland used, flatteringly, to refer to themselves as his "Brain Trust."

THERE have been many other examples in many other states and it has become almost routine for presidential candidates to have campaign Brain Trusts. Mr. Willkie had one and so did Mr. Landon. However, no president ever had so large a Brain Trust or leaned on it so heavily as this president. The original head of the Roosevelt Brain Trust was Dr. Raymond Moley. But, after several years, it developed that Dr. Moley had too much brains to believe in the New Deal policies and the headship passed to Harry Hopkins, who believes in anything Mr. Roosevelt believes in.

HOWEVER, Mr. Hopkins is the courtier rather than the intellectual type and soon leadership among the "idea men" passed to the firm of Corcoran and Cohen, around which clustered young "liberals," attracted by the opportunity to conduct socialistic experiments with the taxpayers' money. But, Mr. Corcoran dealt the second Brain Trust a terrible blow when, soon after having been widely publicized as an "unselfish idealist" who cared nothing for money, he suddenly joined the ranks of the lawyer-lobbyists and heavily cashed in on his White House connections. Within a short time he is reported to have made a million or so dollars in fees from the large corporations whose Washington counsel he became. And he is still at it.

FOR QUITE some time after Mr. Corcoran began to "clean up," the deserted and damaged Brain Trusters were in a state of demoralized obscurity. None retired for pay, but they were leaderless and upset. Some were mortified; some were envious and some were sore. Until recently, they kept out of the public eye, appeared to have lost their influence as White House advisers and the newspapers ceased referring to them. Now, according to the exceedingly factual United States News, which appears to be the third Brain Trust has arisen. Its members are unobtrusively tucked away in key positions in the war agencies and have become very influential, indeed. Though none of them is head of his particular agency, all of them guide policy and make decisions on domestic issues, and most of them are able to get to the President easier and more often than their own chiefs.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

There's a guy in my life I hate. I have so thoroughly detested for years that every time I saw him just before lunch I couldn't eat anything.

And I think I affected him about the same way.

Last week the thing finally came to a head in the boss's office.

He threatened me. I dared him, he threatened me. First fight, the boss separated us and threatened to lick us both and then fire us if we didn't behave like adults.

The next day, I was taken sick and didn't get back to the office until today.

About a half hour after I arrived my phone rang. It was my enemy's voice.

"Hello," it said, "mind if I come up a minute and talk to you?"

"No, come on," I said.

A few minutes later he came up. The first thing he did was to hold out his paw (and it's some paw, I tell you) and say:

"Want to shake Erich? And I hope you don't mind if I call you by your first name."

I shook and he said:

"I'm sorry I called you a lot of things I did. I guess it was all a misunderstanding. If it's all right with you, let's be friends."

"O. K. fellow," I said, "let's be friends."

We both agreed that it was a darn good thing we had that row in the boss's office. It cleared the atmosphere once and for all.

Lots of people go around carrying grudges, and as the years go by these grudges grow and grow until they become obsessions.

For Pete's sake, if something's eating you, have it out.

Shout, threaten, maybe even punch each other in the nose—but have it out, and then shake hands and make it up.

Grudges are like cancers. While they are in their early stages they can be cut out—when they have eaten into your system it's too late.

But remember—it takes a man to admit he was wrong, it takes two people to make up.

Never refuse the hand of friendship, unless there's a knife up its sleeve.

ASSORTED CREW TO FERRY BOATS IN BRITISH NAVY

Retired Admiral, Bearded Irish Novelist, Others Are Assembling In New York

By WALTER KIERNAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, July 20.—One of the oddest crews ever to sail the seas... and a lot of odd crews have sailed it... was assembling in New York today to ferry small boats for the British navy.

It included an admiral with a chest covered with decorations who is serving as a temporary lieutenant in the British Naval Reserve; a retired colonel of artillery serving as Bosun; another retired artillery colonel serving as an able-bodied seaman and a titled captain invalided out of the British army, also serving as able-bodied seaman. A bearded Irish novelist now commissioned as a sub lieutenant completed the complement.

Most In Sixties
With the exception of Sir Richard White, 33, the ex-captain, all of the men are in their sixties. "Lieutenant" Fetherstonhaugh, better known as Admiral The Hon. Sir H. Meade-Fetherstonhaugh, is 68. He is in command of the party.

Fetherstonhaugh, a navy man for 55 years, retired from active duty in 1937. He fought in the first World War's naval battles of Jutland, Heligoland and Dogger Bank... the biggest naval battles of that war. He was commanded the Royal yacht... the king's yacht... been commander of the Mediterranean squadron, a commodore of destroyer and cruiser squadrons and commanded the battleship renowned when it carried the Prince of Wales to Japan.

Now he is taking turns with the others peeling potatoes and enjoying it.

Others Of Crew
Lieut. Samuel B. Evitt, a mild little man of 66, is a utilities engineer in civil life. During the last war he served in submarines.

Conor O'Brien, a sub lieutenant is 63 and, like Evitt, also a mate of the odd crew. A writer and novelist, he once sailed a small boat around the world, the trip taking two years.

"Bosun" H. B. Gunn was formerly Col. H. B. Gunn of the Royal artillery. He is 63.

Able-bodied seaman A. E. Newland was Lieut. Col. Newland of the Royal artillery and fought in the Boer war.

Sir Richard White, youngest of the crew, said with a grin that he finds his oldest companions "very understanding." White was captain in the territorial branch of the army.

Ickes Appeals For No Increase In Pleasure Driving

Supplies For Armed Forces
Come First Says Secretary At Dedication

(International News Service)
PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., July 20.—Petroleum Administrator Ickes appealed to the nation "not to plead for an increase in pleasure driving," on Monday.

Ickes made his plea in a speech dedicating the world's largest pipeline. The last link in the "Big Inch" was welded Monday near Phoenixville.

"In the flush of present victories let us not abandon the resolve by which they have been won," he said. "Let us not, in the knowledge that the Big-Inch is ready to flow new quantities of oil into the East, plead for an increase in pleasure driving at the expense of an increase in the power of our attacks."

Ickes said that the problem of assuring the fighting men "that behind them there is no break in the line of petroleum supplies, no limit to the volume of oil they need" to defeat the enemy, has been met, however, we must continue "to produce and deliver more and more—in the savage hope that the oil that we can provide will be enough."

"Enough to assure that every plane, every ship, every tank and gun and convoy can fight through at full striking power, anytime, and every time, that the order comes—'attack!'"

We "must assure" victory by a "still more vigorous mobilization of the oil industry," Ickes continued, "a still more effective coordination of the job by the government, and above all by the personal, individual collaboration of every single citizen, not simply to save gasoline and oil, but to stop its use for any purpose that does not add directly to the fighting power of this nation."

Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, in a speech prepared for the opening and delivered by RFC Chairman Charles B. Henderson, disclosed that the "Big Inch" was built for $5,000,000 less than the estimated cost of $100,000,000.

Jones also stated that the pipeline "will go a long way toward insuring our success in the war and will furnish oil for heating homes and factories on the eastern seaboard." He praised the contractors who built the line, declaring that they "spent the government's money as economically and efficiently as they would their own."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

right-hand man to Prentiss Brown, of the OPA; Mordecai Ezekiel, who is behind Judge Jones, the new food administrator. Then, there is also Wayne Coy, assistant director of the budget, and the 27-year-old Edward Pritchard, former law clerk to Justice Frankfurter, who advises Mr. Vinson, new head of the Board of Economic Stabilization. Neither Mr. Hopkins nor David Niles of the White House staff, are put in as brain trusters. They are fourth-term strategists, Mr. Hopkins, living in the White House, being the chief strategist, and Mr. Niles his leg man.

OF THE real brain trusters, Mr. Cohen, in former days, was Mr. Corcoran's teammate and has been greatly chagrined by the conduct of his erstwhile comrade, Mr. Gilbert was formerly attached to the ebullient Mr. Henderson and is an enthusiastic pump primer. Mr. Ezekiel is an ardent young experimenter who was in the old AAA and is regarded as very far to the left, indeed. Aside from the fact that all these young men are the most ardent kind of New Dealers who feel, as does Attorney General Biddle, that war or no war, the "social gains" of the New Deal must be extended and that the political front at home is second only to the military front abroad—aside from that, there are several interesting things about the present operations of the third Brain Trust.

FOR ONE, its members exercise great authority with hardly any responsibility, keeping well behind down agency policies without the public eye. For another, none of them was personally picked by his respective chief. Their respective chiefs had nothing whatever to do with their selection. They either found them there when they took hold or accepted them in response to White House suggestion. For still another, they are able to see the President when members of Congress cannot and, in some instances, when their own agency heads cannot. This hardly seems a salutary thing, no matter from what angle it is viewed.

THE CHARGE has been made that this group was partly responsible for driving Mr. Chester Davis out of his job, that he found they were laying down agency policies without consultation with him and that they could get to Mr. Roosevelt and he could not. The United States News presents a number of highly confusing decisions which it asserts were made individually by members of the group and concerning which the head men knew little or nothing. Before recessing members of Congress were beginning to voice an increasing distaste for this brain trust setup, but there was nothing they could do about it. Very clearly, it is a settled policy of the President to head these vital domestic war agencies with former members of Congress friendly to him and then put in as their deputies these young intellectuals to guide them.

MR. BYRNES, head of the WMB, was a former Senator whom the President put on the Supreme Court. Economic Stabilizer Vinson is an ex-member of the House whom Mr. Roosevelt made a Federal judge. So was Mr. Jones, the Food Administrator. Mr. Brown, of the OPA, was a Democratic Senator defeated in the last election. All four were New Deal members of Congress and all four have been equipped with a New Deal brain truster as a policy maker. Maybe, this arrangement will be as beneficial from the public as it undoubtedly is from the Administration viewpoint. At any rate, the people are entitled to see it as it is. Certainly, it does not refute the charge that the President has failed to enlist the services of the best available men in the country, regardless of politics, for these extremely vital jobs.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Franco, Japan can never be reliable while its existing Samurai class survives—and killing off a whole CLASS is no small undertaking.

In short, an international police force versus this quartet has quite a task ahead, extended on into indefinite futurity.

A police force has to have a chief. Who will he be? An American? A Briton? A Russian? Or a Chinese? These boys can disagree between themselves.

It does not look like it now, combined, as they are, but ultimately they are liable to conflict mutually, as they have done before.

Then what will the chief's mandate be like? If called on to squelch a totalitarian outbreak, there is a 50-50 split in opinion between THEM and the democracies, and he has only that problem to solve, he will not have much of a puzzle to deal with. Still, he would want to keep order.

Doing it on an international scale will make him nifty. But the scrap may not be between the democracies and the totalitarians alone. It may also be between some democracies and some other democracies.

Illustratively, we and the British are very fond of the Russians now, but we were not prior to the Nazis' attack on them. Wendell Willkie in his book, telling of his travels, mentions obvious frictions between the Muscovites and the Chinese where their respective territories develop considerable rivalry between them. Even we and the British have had some trifling differences of opinion.

Is it a safe conclusion, then, that that proposed international police force will not fall out internally, perhaps two or three decades hence? If so, whose side will the chief be on?

Oh, everlasting, universal peace is a lovely picture, but is it not rather a fancy sketch than a dependable prospective photograph?

New version, by Washington: From him that hath shall be taken even that which he hath.

Truck Driver Has Hitch-Hiking Dog

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 20.—"It's the kypsy in me," Rex, a miniature collie seems to say as he wags his tail while waiting to hitch a ride with his truck driver friend, James Alston of Pittsburgh.

Rex first met his friend Alston four years ago when the man stopped in at Sam Gramis's store in Pittsburgh to buy a pack of cigarettes. And that day the dog forgot all his home loving instincts, jumped on the running board of Alston's truck, and has been "bumming" rides ever since. Rex waits on a corner for Alston every day and never gives up even when the truck is several hours off schedule. Then off they go to Wheeling, New Castle, or any place else in the tri-state area where Alston makes his deliveries for the Steel Products company of McKees Rocks.

Touching Dog Tale Told By Holliday

Mother Of Local Soldier Receives Story Showing There Is Sentiment In War

Mrs. F. R. Holliday, of 902 West Clayton street, has received a clipping from the Stars and Stripes, the official publication for men in the field, telling of a touching incident revealing there is still sentiment in this war. It was sent by her son, Pvt. John T. Holliday, from somewhere in North Africa.

It deals with a story of two pilots who owned a dog, Duckworth, a cated with General Eisenhower. The cocker spaniel, which met the planes as they came home from combat, and shared his affection with his two owners. One day one of them, Lieut. East failed to return. The dog grieved deeply for his lost companion, as much as Lieut. Harold Taff, the survivor of the triumvirate.

The father of Lieut. East, learning of his death, and knowing of the dog, but not aware of its joint ownership by the two men, asked General Eisenhower, if the dog could be shipped home to the parents. The order was given, and the dog was started on its way to the states. Lieut. Taff was hard hit by the order, and appealed to Lieut. Gen. Carl Spaatz, who in turn communicated the matter to Duckworth, and Duckworth soon rejoined his owner, the two having become closer pals than ever.

BETTING BOMBSIGHT MAKERS ARE TRAPPED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 20.—Archie Carabba, 31, a mechanic, was back at his job at the Norden bombsight plant today after instructing two detectives in the art of making bombsights, and, incidentally, how to make book.

Naval intelligence complained that valuable time was being lost at the vital war plant when employees took time out to place bets. Two plain clothesmen were assigned and Carabba was picked to instruct them in their job as mechanics.

At 1 p. m. yesterday, the two dicks reported that Carabba had been busy since 11 a. m. not only teaching them the intricacies of bombsight making, but also making book on the races.

Carabba pleaded guilty, and will be sentenced Thursday.

May Ask French Committee For Post-War Pledge

U. S. Government Considering Two Ways Of Dealing With Provisional Governors

By KINGSBRY SMITH (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The United States government today is understood to be considering two alternatives in connection with the question of recognizing the French committee of national liberation.

One alternative is to draft a formula for recognition of the committee based on the fulfillment of certain conditions.

Main point in the conditions which the committee would be asked to fulfill would be a solemn pledge that the French people will be given an opportunity soon after the liberation of France to choose freely the leaders and form of government they want.

If these conditions were met, the American government would then extend recognition to the committee as the central governing authority of all French territory not under the domination of the Axis powers.

Not Bona Fide Government

However, there is no question whatever of recognizing the committee as a provisional government. The state department is standing pat on its policy of refusing to recognize any French government which has not been chosen by the people themselves in a free election.

The other alternative which this government is considering is to withhold any special recognition of the committee and to carry on de facto relations with it as at present.

No decision has yet been reached as to what course will be followed. The American government is waiting to see whether Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of the Fighting French, is prepared to subordinate French political questions in the interests of French unity and the allied cause.

Hornet April 18, 1942, to blast military objectives in the vicinity of Tokyo.

It also was recalled that in March 1942, a task force under Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., sent planes from carriers to hit Japanese-owned Marcus Island, about 1,000 miles southeast of Tokyo.

The navy did not reveal the origin of the American raid on Paramushiru, but it was believed that the planes came from U. S. bases in the western Aleutians.

Paramushiru is about 765 miles west of American-held Attu Island and about 965 miles from the American air base at Amchitka, which is just a stone's throw from Kiska.

The Kuril Island chain, which includes Paramushiru, is a fog-bound series which reaches almost to the southern tip of Russia's Kamachaka Peninsula.

Strategic Bases

According to information in Washington, the Kurils are important only for their fisheries, and for strategic military bases.

It was recalled that a week ago reports were current in Washington that Paramushiru had been bombed by American planes but at that time Secretary of the Navy Knox declined to affirm or deny the rumor.

There was no explanation for these reports unless the raid actually was nothing more than an American reconnaissance which did not end in a bombing attack at that time.

The navy in the same communication reported that on July 18 American heavy and medium bombers again attacked the main camp area and the Gertrude Cove zone on Japanese-held Kiska Island in the Aleutians.

Due to bad weather, results of the latest assault on Kiska were not observed.

American warships and planes have been hammering Kiska for several weeks, apparently in preparation for an American move to oust the Japanese from their last stronghold in the Aleutians.

REPORT ITALIAN TROOPS REBEL AGAINST NAZIS

save the east coast of Catania from capture, the communiques reported. The enemy's positions are protected south of the town by rivers flowing from west across the Catania plain.

Over the whole front the Allied forces were reported only 20 miles from the northern range of hills forming the west and east backbone of Sicily. The Axis forces have been thrown back to the last lateral highway linking the ferry terminal of Messina with the west.

Headquarters confirmed that 500 planes participated in the gigantic raid yesterday on Rome. Two Axis aircraft were said to have been shot down by escorting fighter planes when the bombers struck at the eternal city. Five Allied craft were listed as missing.

Steel Plant Hit

The Tabonelli steel plant and a large chemical plant were said to have been damaged along with other objectives at Rome.

Gen. Eisenhower confirmed earlier announcements of the capture of Caltonisetta, south of Enna, and Porto Empedocle by American forces.

There were unconfirmed reports that combined units of American and Canadian troops had reached Enna, geographical center of Sicily and vital hub of railroads and roads extending to all points on the Italian island.

(The London Daily Express carried a dispatch reporting that the Allied troops had captured Enna.)

Although the report that the Americans and Canadians were on the outskirts of the town was not immediately confirmed at headquarters, the Morocco radio announced that the forces driving northward through the center of the island had reached Enna.

Near Enna

Advanced units of American and Canadian troops were known to have struck to within 10 miles of Enna following the capture by the Yanks of Caltonisetta and occupation of Piazza-Armerina by Canadian units. The latter town lies on the main road from the southern coast to Enna.

Although German troops to the east offered stiff resistance to the British Eighth Army driving northward on Catania the enemy opposition appeared to be crumbling under heavy aerial bombardment.

(The Nazi-operated Paris radio reported violent fighting on the outskirts of Catania and said that "several times in the last few days Catania was nearly captured by Allied forces.")

Despite Axis counterattacks were credited with preventing the fall of the city.

(Axis sources were quoted by the Swedish newspaper Göteborgs Posten as stating that Catania had been evacuated and that its fall was imminent.)

Retreat In Northeast

(Reuter heard the Algiers radio say that Allied air reconnaissance shows a general movement of retreat through northeast Sicily. Axis forces with heavy and light equipment were said to be falling back on the ferry terminal of Messina by road and railway. The Algiers station stated according to the reports the Germans and Italians are preparing considerable defense works around Messina where everything is being done to make ready for a final prolonged stand.)

The latest announcement from headquarters placed the Eighth Army troops of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery within three miles of Catania on the south.

The Americans under command of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., also advanced westward along the southern coast from captured Porto Empedocle in addition to pressing northward on Enna.

While the terrain in the southwest and central part of the island favors the Axis the Americans and Canadians are moving forward and slashing the enemy defenses at a fairly rapid pace.

New York, July 20.—Allied forces are now only four kilometers (2 1/2 miles) from Catania in an advance that is overcoming "stiff enemy resistance," NBC reported from Algiers today.

One Killed In Bad Freight Wreck At Monroeville, Ohio

Munitions In One Car Explode, Shelling Town For Four Hours

(International News Service)

NORWALK, O., July 20.—The dropping of a brake beam was believed today to have been the probable cause of the wrecking of a Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad train which resulted in the explosion of munitions carried in one of the cars, killing one hand and causing a four-hour shelling of nearby Monroeville.

Fourteen tank cars of oil also were destroyed in the fire which caused the death of an unidentified man and injury to two passengers on the train. Two others, believed to be hoboes, also were missing. The heat of the blaze and explosion of shells hampered firemen attempting to extinguish the flames.

Meanwhile, F.B.I. agents, deputy sheriffs and officials of the W. & L. E. continued investigation into the worse wartime railroad wreck ever to occur in the area.

Residents of Monroeville reported shells screaming overhead as flames swept the two explosive-laden freight cars. One of the injured was identified as Alfred Workman, of Cleveland. He told sheriffs' deputies, they said, that he and another man were riding the train to "look for work." He was taken to Norwalk City Hospital.

Freight traffic on the line was halted. Traffic also was curtailed on the nearby New York Central Line as a result of the explosion. More than 500 feet of track on the lines was torn up, it was said.

Martin Gantz School Reunion August 12

Annual School Reunion Will Be At Scottish Rite Cathedral For Martin Gantzers

Monday evening, the past and present officers of the Martin Gantz school reunion, met at the home of president, J. Albert Hewitt, 209 East Lincoln avenue, and decided to have this year's reunion on Thursday, August 12.

Again as last year, the event will be in the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Lincoln avenue.

Any person having Martin Gantz school pictures are asked to leave or send them to Butz store on North Mercer street, no later than a week before the reunion. A window display is being arranged for that week. The pictures, having the name and owners on the back, will be returned the night of the reunion.

Reservation cards were sent out, and must be returned as soon as possible, due to the food rationing. The secretary requests the names of all former Martin Gantz members who have died since, August 13, 1942.

Mrs. Kathryn Gilbreath, secretary, wants all names of the Martin Gantz boys now in the service. Send or call, Mrs. E. O. Gilbreath, 417 East Northview avenue.

What are we fighting for? Well, much depends on what you mean when you say "we."

You Can Qualify for the WAVES?

Check your qualifications against these requirements

CITIZENSHIP—You must be a native-born American. Or you or your parents must have naturalization papers.

AGE—Between your 20th and 36th birthdays. If under 21, you must have written consent of your parents.

MARRIAGE—If married, you may enlist, provided your husband is not in the Navy. If unmarried, you may marry after you finish training, even though you do marry a Navy man.

DEPENDENTS—Women with children under 18 are not accepted.

CHARACTER—You will be asked to furnish 3 letters of recommendation from reputable citizens who know you.

EDUCATION—At least 2 years of high school or business school. And you must pass a simple aptitude test.

EXPERIENCE—You must submit a record of your occupation since leaving school.

PHYSICAL—You must submit a health certificate from your family doctor and also pass a Navy physical examination to show you are in sound health.

HEIGHT—At least 5 feet.

WEIGHT—At least 95 pounds, with weight in proportion to general body build.

EYES—Not less than 5/20 in worst eye, with binocular vision not less than 12/20. Each eye correctable with glasses to 20/20.

HEARING—Distinguish whispered words at 15 feet.

TEETH—Must be in sound condition, or you must have satisfactory replacements.

IF YOU CAN MEET these requirements, there is a place waiting for you in the WAVES. A place as radioman, storekeeper, yeoman, parachute rigger, or some other important full-time Navy job now held by a man—a job which you can fill and release that man to fight at sea. As a member of the WAVES, you wear the same Navy blue and draw the same Navy pay up to $126 a month, plus allowances as America's finest fighting men. Get all the facts about this exciting service today. Ask at your nearest Navy Recruiting Station for "How to Serve Your Country in the WAVES".

You can also join the Coast Guard as a SPAR. Requirements are the same as for the WAVES.

Munda Approach Makes Fantastic Jungle Warfront

U. S. Forces Move Up On Jap Base Slowly Through Dark And Treachery

By JACK MAHON

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE INVASION FORCES APPROACHING MUNDA, July 20.

The fingers of tropical night close slowly over the jungle, drawing an eerie curtain of greyness and mystic moonlight over the fighting men on what surely must be one of the most fantastic battlefronts of all time.

It is not a battlefield at all from the real acceptance of the word; rather, it is a devil's dream of trees which died of strangulation in the garbled branches of their predecessors; of secret trails and an enemy you cannot see.

It is eleven days since our army forces started from shore northeast through a maze of twisted brush toward Munda airfield. One force hacked and fought through approximately four miles of hell to effect a bridgehead on the island's southern coast. Another, meeting more opposition, made slower progress by way of an inland trail leading to the same beach, where an offensive line will begin the drive on the field.

Enemy Lurks Unseen

On July 11 our forces had pressed within 2½ miles of the air strip. Since then, despite superior forces, we have moved only half a mile. The taking of munda is a difficult job, not because of the quality of the opposition but because of the type of it. They cannot fight what they cannot see; they cannot whip enemies who live like ants in trees, hide under logs and shoot and run. The Jap will not mix with the American in the open. He believes in striking in the dark and mixes his witches brew of psychology with his bullets to ruin the minds and spirits as well as the bodies of our men.

Some of the stories our men tell are fiction, some are true, but the whole thing adds up to mental ills and unadulterated torture.

Inhuman Jap Facts

It definitely has been established that the Japs prowl by night, come right into our camps. They call for help saying in English that they have been shot. Our men move to help and are killed or wounded.

On a Jap crawls alongside and asks for a cigarette in the dark. One is extended. The Yank is stabbed or wounded.

Some Japs actually have been caught jumping into foxholes to knife dozing soldiers and it is a positive fact that the enemy lets out wild and inhuman screams in the night, rustles leaves and branches and throws dirt at the American lines, hopeful of creating panic.

Add to this the heart-breaking supply problem involving food and ammunition; the rains, mud and eternal mystery of a land never seen; a land where adventure, deception and death lie at every turn of the snake-like trail. Picture this and remember it; remember to pray for these boys in the tropical wilderness. For such is the siege of Munda.

BIRTH FIGURES IN STATE TAKE WARTIME JUMP

(International News Service)

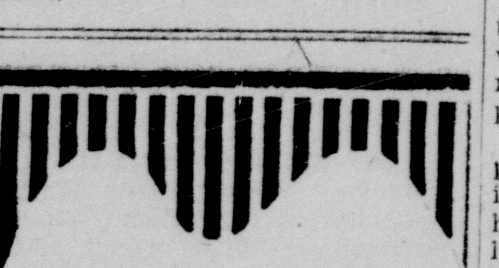

HARRISBURG, July 20—The wartime increase in marriages was reflected today in a health department report stating live births during 1942 totaled 198,411 as compared with 175,198 in the previous year in Pennsylvania.

Comparative figures disclosed there were 2014 twins and 19 sets of triplets born last year while in 1941 1560 twins, 10 sets of triplets and two quadruplets were born. Last year, the department reported, 51.3 per cent of the babies were males while 73.1 per cent of all the babies were born in hospitals.

TEACHING RETARDED TRAINEES IS BEGUN AT NEW CUMBERLAND

(International News Service)

NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa., July 20—A military and academic instruction program to fit "educationally retarded" trainees for army jobs was initiated today at the New Cumberland reception center. After adjusting individual problems and "weeding out" men temperamentally unsuited for army service, the trainee is given instruction to place him in the army's fourth grade educational level and shipped to a replacement center for assignment.

Rainey And Chambers Rescued After Sinking Of Helena In Battle

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Rainey of Darlington avenue had their hearts made glad this morning when they received the news that their son, Corporal Clyde Rainey, U. S. Marine, along with Paul Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Chambers of 620 West Clayton street, were safe somewhere in the south Pacific.

The news came this morning in a special delivery letter from Clyde. After eulogizing his splendid ship "Helena", Clyde said in part: "I was one of the lucky ones to have survived. Paul Chambers is also safe and we live close to each other. I lost practically everything that night. I am now well supplied. After being sunk we were picked up by a destroyer which took us to where we are now. I can never forget the Lord who guided us that night through the thick of night while we were in the water; to safety. Many things have happened which I cannot relate here, but please ease your minds as I am well and in very best of health."

Clyde and Paul were aboard the U. S. S. Helena which was sunk in the battle of Kula Bay. In the Solomons, with the Japanese navy, about two weeks ago.

SCOUTS PREPARE DEPOT FOR RECEIVING SCRAP

(International News Service)

Mahoningtown Boy Scouts and friends were busy Monday afternoon with shovels and sickles leveling off the accumulation of various kinds of weeds on the lot at the corner of East Madison avenue and Liberty street. Some of the weeds had attained several feet height and were quite stout, requiring some lusty swinging by the boys of their weapons to cut them down. It could be seen that some of the boys had acquired blisters, and were wearing court plaster. Eyewitnesses remarked that the owner of the lot was getting a break. The lot is being prepared as a depot to receive scrap brass, copper, and bronze in the drive for that material on July 24, next Saturday.

SHOWING SPLENDID INTEREST

R. M. Barnes, secretary of the Seventh Ward Civic League, states that the committee is well pleased with the interest that is being manifested by folks in the community in the project of putting up an honor roll cabinet in the ward for the men in U. S. service. Subscriptions toward the expense of installing the cabinet are coming in nicely. Names of service men are still being received by Mr. Barnes.

TRANSFERRED

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Russo of 109 South Liberty street, that their son, Private Leo N. Russo, has been transferred from Camp Meade to Washington, D. C. He is attached to the military police corps.

FIXING STREET

City employees, on Monday, were doing some patching of Liberty street in the neighborhood of Madison avenue. Amestis was being used to level up some irregular spots in that location.

BANQUET THIS EVENING

Members of St. Margaret's Beneficial society will observe St. Margaret's Day with a banquet this evening for members at their hall, North Liberty street, at 7 o'clock.

ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Mrs. Julia Sperduti of 105 North Wayne street has received word that her son, Corporal Frank Sperduti, has arrived in England and doing fine.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Rose McBride of 9 Maple street is confined to the New Castle hospital, where she is receiving treatment.

Geraldine Prescaro of 304 Montgomery avenue has been admitted to the New Castle hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Forest R. Barnum and daughters Joy and Joan of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown, have returned from a visit with Mrs. Jack Butera of West Pittsburg.

Miss Louise Lutton, formerly of the ward, has returned to Collingswood, N. J., after visiting with relatives in the ward, and other parts of the city for a week. Anna Michael of R. D. 1, Wampum, formerly of East Cherry street, is still confined to the New Castle hospital, but is now improving nicely. Anna sustained injuries in a bicycle accident on June 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Russo of 109 South Liberty street have received word that their son, Peter L. Russo, has been promoted to private first class. He is attached to the coast artillery, stationed at Portland, Me.

Ensign Raymond Carlin, engineering instructor at Maritime Commission Academy, King's Point, Long Island, N. Y., has returned after a week-end visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carlin and family of 313 North Lafayette street.

REVEALS HORSE HAD IMPORTANT ROLE IN TUNISIAN CAMPAIGN

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 20—Tanks and trucks may dominate modern warfare, but the horse can still get things done.

The war department revealed today that the 91st reconnaissance squadron, mechanized, borrowed nine horses from a friendly farmer in Tunisia to knock out several units of the famed Hermann Goering division.

According to Lt. Col. Harry W. Candler of Selma, N. C., squadron commander, the horses were used to transport ammunition and food across swamp land.

Public Silence Of Mussolini Causes Mystery

Report General In Command In Sicily Says Resistance Can't Be Prolonged

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 20—The London daily sketch today published French reports that Gen. Alfredo Guzzoni, commander of Italian forces in Sicily, has warned King Victor Emmanuel that he cannot guarantee prolonged resistance against Allied invasion forces on the island.

A Madrid dispatch to the Daily Mail called Premier Benito Mussolini's public silence since the invasion of Sicily "mysterious," and reported that, so far as is known, the Duce has not conferred with generals of his military staff since early this month.

On the other hand, the dispatch adds, the king was reported to have asked Marshal Pietro Badoglio for his opinion on Italy's chances of withstanding attack once the Allies have control of Sicily.

Reuters reported a radio broadcast by the "German freedom" transmitter, operated by Right Wing army circles, charging "betrayal of our soldiers in Sicily." The broadcast was quoted as saying Nazi sentries are being stabbed in the back and complaining that roads on the island were choked with refugees "who refuse to budge."

Release Of More Hogs For Market Is Now Predicted

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 20—Release of more hogs for the market today was expected to result from the government's plans to set a maximum price of $14.75 on live hogs, extend price supports to lesser weighing animals and place all pigs slaughters on a federal licensing basis.

The WFA and OPA disclosed that the price ceiling and licensing provisions would become effective next month. WFA will extend its price support on hogs from the present 240-270 pounds to the 220-270 pound classes September 1.

Under the licensing system, all slaughters except farmers killing for home consumption will be required to obtain government license and follow instructions on division of their slaughter among civilians, the armed forces and the Allies.

OPA officials said that by placing the live hog price ceiling at $14.75, farmers will be given assurance that this is the highest that can be expected during the war and be willing to market their animals.

With women outnumbering men and being able to do man's work, the future looks bright for ornerly males.

Buy a Bond at Penney's

FOR THE BOYS WHO ARE FAR AWAY!

As a tribute to the 4,512 Penney employees who are wearing Khaki or Navy Blue or the Fighting Drab of the Marines, we are devoting the month of July to selling the War Bonds of our Country.

For our hearts, and your hearts, are constantly with these boys, and our guiding hope is for their speedy and victorious return.

That is why every Penney associate is so willingly mobilized in this great campaign... that is why every one of us in every J. C. Penney store will offer Bonds as your best buy all through the month of July.

Today Sgt. Tex Klous, of the Hutchinson, Kansas, store, decorated for shooting down two Japanese planes off Kiska, is in the thick of things in the Aleutians. Buy a Bond and help him annihilate more Japs!

Today Sgt. Malcolm Logan of Laramie, Wyoming, a Flying Fortress Gunner, is thought to be a prisoner in Germany after the famous Renault raid. Buy a Bond and carry on, for him, where he left off!

Today Mrs. Jessie Hovis of Wichita Falls, Texas, is breaking all records selling Bonds in the Penney store, for her son, Howard, a member of the "Lost Battalion" in Java.

Buy a Bond now—help your own sweetheart or your son, your nephew, or your neighbor to come marching home again!

Last July Penney's host of loyal and patriotic customers made one of the outstanding Bond-buying records of the War.

This year, with the glorious example of our victorious boys overseas foremost in everyone's mind, we look forward with certainty to a new high mark.

Buy your War Bonds at Penney's now!—and every time you shop, take your change in War Stamps.

Work Of USO Is Told Rotarians

Mrs. Olive Reed Bolinger Tells Of Splendid Work Local Center Is Accomplishing

HAVE ENTERTAINED 4,000 MEN HERE

Rotary club members were told of the splendid work being accomplished by the local USO center among the men in service, at their noon luncheon meeting in the Castleton Monday. The speaker was Mrs. Olive Reed Bolinger, chairman of the hostess committee.

Mrs. Bolinger stated that the local center, in the nine weeks it has been operating has entertained 3,000 men, and has established a reputation as being one of the outstanding centers in the country. This has been due, she stated, to the splendid co-operation given by the women and girls of New Castle in extending every courtesy possible to the visiting men in the armed forces.

She stated that it has been found that some of the young men who come to the center have expressed the desire to meet with men, particularly men who have been successful, and that a call will go out shortly to the men of this city to assist in entertaining the boys at the center.

Mrs. Bolinger related a number of incidents showing the appreciation that the service men have shown for the courtesies extended to them here. She extended her appreciation to Dr. C. C. Green, chairman of the selective service committee, in approving the girls who have acted as hostesses.

In conclusion she introduced Mrs.

Shows Responsibility Of County Officials

State's County Commissioners Hear National President At Pittsburgh

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, July 20—Officials of political sub-divisions are in "big business" but "apparently don't know it," Truman H. Preston, president of the National Association of County Officials, told Pennsylvania's county commissioners here on Monday at the opening of the latter's 57th annual convention.

"Commissioners of the 3,039 counties of the United States last year spent more than $1,200,000,000 for current over-all expenses," Preston declared, "which places a huge responsibility upon them, for that is big business."

"These officials, living next door to the man and woman who hand out the money, must always have something to show for their expenditures," he added.

The three-day conference of county commissioners got under way with President John Snediker presiding.

THIEVES GET STUCK IN BREWERY THEFT

(International News Service) SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 20—Probably the most disgusted thieves in the state of Illinois today were those who stole a full barrel, weighing 600 pounds, from the Springfield brewery.

If there was a contemplated celebration, it didn't come off, Frank Melton, brewery employee, said the barrel was found later just a half block from the plant.

It was full of glue—not beer.

THIRST

In the summer time, people sweat a lot. Water must be drunk to make up for it.

While we are at home and drink city water we are safe.

When we drink well water or spring water we should be sure that it has been tested and found to be pure.

If you are in doubt about water being safe, it should be boiled before drinking it.

After boiling, it should be shaken and cooled.

Don't forget about eating a little extra salt if you sweat much.

Salt helps you to stand the heat better.

MORE BEANS FOR CIVILIANS LIKELY

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The War Food Administration held out hopes for larger rations of dried beans and peas during the next 12 months. It allocated civilians larger quantities of these products than they consumed in 1942.

These rich foods were placed on the ration list last March 1 with civilians being allowed a per capita quota of about seven pounds of beans and slightly less than a pound of peas a year.

Supplies allocated for the 12-month period ending next July 1 will show a per capita civilian allowance of nearly nine pounds of beans and 1.2 pounds of peas.

MORE BEANS FOR CIVILIANS LIKELY WASHINGTON, July 20.—The War Food Administration held out hopes for larger rations of dried beans and peas during the next 12 months. It allocated civilians larger quantities of these products than they consumed in 1942. These rich foods were placed on the ration list last March 1 with civilians being allowed a per capita quota of about seven pounds of beans and slightly less than a pound of peas a year. Supplies allocated for the 12-month period ending next July 1 will show a per capita civilian allowance of nearly nine pounds of beans and 1.2 pounds of peas.

First Action Of 45th Division Is Good As Veterans

Extensive Training Of American Outfit Put In Practice On Sicily

By CLARK LEE

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE 45TH DIVISION ON THE SICILIAN FRONT, July 17—(Delayed)—The American forty-fifth division has come through its first week's baptism of fire with flying colors.

Keeping pace with the veteran first division, the forty-fifth attained all objectives on schedule, overcoming weak Italian and strong German resistance in a manner that is a tribute to its extensive training since September 1940, and most of all to the caliber of its men and officers. Only four of the latter have had previous combat experience.

Originally Oklahoma Guard
The forty-fifth, originally the Oklahoma National Guard, was formerly made up mostly of men from the southwest. Now Oklahomans come first numerically but they are followed by men from New York, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Massachusetts and every other state in the union.

I watched the forty-fifth in all types of action—mopping up snipers, hurling hand grenades at machine-gun nests, shooting enemy tanks with whatever weapons there were available, charging uphill in the face of machine-gun, mortar and cannon fire.

It's been a strenuous job just keeping up with them, necessitating an average day's travel of fifty miles in a jeep, or on foot. They are long-legged and tireless and fought or marched six days and nights with little rest and no grousing.

Capture 6,000 Prisoners
For the ground covered—up to 40 miles inland on a 20-mile front—the forty-fifth's casualties have been unusually low. Less than a hundred were killed. On the other hand, they captured nearly 6,000 prisoners.

After sharing the division's life, however, you don't think of the losses in terms of casualty figures. You think of the youngster who lay dead at the entrance to the Biscari airfield with a dead German 10 feet away. Or the young lieutenant killed by an 88 tank shell outside Calatigione. And of the popular medical corps man shot through the back as he crawled to the assistance of wounded through artillery fire.

Commended By General
The forty-fifth's commander, Maj. Gen. Middleton said: "They've done extremely well for a division that had never seen combat. A fine bunch of men. It was the most difficult operation beginning at the landing beaches to advance over rough terrain. The division moved up very rapidly and the supply and communications organizations kept pace. It met and defeated some first class German and Italian troops."

The men of the forty-fifth, like other Americans, found that the answer to Nazi tanks is mostly guts and as evidence of their courage the burned out hulks of Mark 6's and Mark 4's are scattered on the fields all the way from the beaches to near Calatigione. They have knocked out tanks with everything from grenades to self-propelled 75s and their own tanks.

During the first afternoon of the landing, Pvt. Ralph Geiger, of Scranton, Pa., knocked out a Mark 3. Geiger crawled 50 yards to the tank, which had been pounding our paratroopers. He fired an anti-tank shell which penetrated the armor, killed the driver and set the tank ablaze. Others knocked out enemy tanks with the medium of rifle and grenades.

Camp Rentz Boys Are Given Awards

Rev. D. L. Ferguson Makes Address Sunday Afternoon
At Vesper Service

Sunday marked the close of the first week at Camp Rentz. The boys who left camp were given their awards just after the afternoon vesper service. Rev. D. L. Ferguson spoke to the boys in the absence of Rev. Griswold, who at the last minute couldn't make the date at camp. Dr. Ferguson told the boys that they should follow in the way of the Lord even though it was much the harder way to follow instead of taking the easier road which Satan offers. Camp fire was the program of the late evening with the boys really singing forth in their favorite camp songs. Quite a few of the parents stayed for the camp fire. The story was told by the camp director.

The following boys were given their awards as they left camp: first year: Jerry Alexander, Giffen Beck, James Boughner, Bill Buckner, Bill Bradley, John Kne, Ralph Cunningham, Dan Dugan, Tom Felo, Bob Ferguson, Lynus Gibson, Brian Hoyland, Dave Hoyland, Richard Jones, Don Kulkin, George McKenzie, Jack Miller, Joe Pazak, Bill Philpott, George Shook, John Stewart, Lyle Stover, Jim Walker, George Weinschenk, Jim Welker, Lewis Pickel.

Second year awards: George Bement, George Berendt, Bill Berendt, Jim Crawford, Jim Criswell, James Dawson, Bill Goddard, Fred Harlan, Bill Roberts, Bill Showman, Tom Walker, Vincent Yakowich; third year: Arden Bement; fourth year: Ed Roberts.

Buhl Foundation Grant To Be For Electrical Engineering Professorship

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 20.—A grant of $333,333 from the Buhl Foundation to maintain a professorship of electrical engineering at Carnegie Institute of Technology was announced by school officials.

Under the terms of the grant, an equal amount for other purposes must be raised elsewhere. Under a "two-for-one" arrangement, the Carnegie Corporation of New York will contribute double that amount. With these arrangements, the grant will eventually mean the addition of two million dollars to the school's endowment fund.

Although the income from the grant shall be applied exclusively to the maintenance of the Buhl professorship in electrical engineering for at least 25 years, the trustees thereafter may apply the income or principal itself to such activities as they think desirable.

Executive meeting of the Thaddeus Stevens Reunion was held recently in the home of Paul McGaffie, Beckford street, president, when plans were outlined for the annual occasion to be held on August 20 in the grove of Cascade Park at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Prizes for the varied program of sports and entertainment will consist of U. S. War Stamps. From all indication, President Paul McGaffie states, a large representation will be on hand to participate. Chairmen in charge of the committees are named as follows: teachers reception, Mrs. Humphrey Richards; teachers invitations, Mrs. Bertha Stewart Campbell; teachers registration, Mrs. Grace Blackford Hulme; students registration, Mrs. Olive Lutz Richards; students reception, Bart Richards; students membership, Ed. J. McKibben; coffee committee, Clarence Welsh; table committee, Mrs. Lina Glasser Alford; sports committee, Reginald Bailey; publicity, Mrs. Humphrey Richards.

Deed Recorded For City Library

With the recording of the deed, from the United States of America to New Castle, the New Castle Free Public Library is now the property of the citizens without any liens against it. The deed has been recorded and the amount paid for the property shown as $34,312.75.

The building is the old post office and is built of stone, located at the corner of North Mercer and North streets. When the government decided to erect a post office on the public square the officials of the library purchased the building from the government.

The remodeling work on the building was done by the WPA and today it is a modern library, housed in a building that looks sound enough to stand a century more.

A modern destroyer costs about $7,500,000 to build and equip.

Rome Blasted In Four Different Waves Of Bombers

Pilots Report Anti-Aircraft Fire Heavy But Inaccurate

By CLINTON GREEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 20.—Flying fortresses of the Northwest African Air Force attacked Rome in four waves, headquarters revealed today.

The first bomb in the raid planned by Air Marshal Sir Arthur William Tedder fell from a plane piloted by Col. Sam Gormley, of Alhambra, Cal., at 11:13 a. m. Rome time, the second wave went into the attack at 11:22, the third at 11:40 and the fourth at 11:55.

Air Marshal Tedder, chief of the Mediterranean air command, visited the participating squadrons before they took off for their targets.

Although the pilots who took part reported that anti-aircraft fire over the Italian capital was "intense and heavy" they said none of it was accurate. Five Axis fighters were sighted over the city but none of these attacked the well-armed forts.

The first bombers flew straight from the Tunisian coast to a point north of the Port of Civitavecchia, north of Rome, which had been raided severely on previous occasions. Then they turned east, went inland and then toward the southwest toward Rome to skirt the eastern edge of the city.

One of the bombardiers was second Lieut. Anthony S. Mastropalo, of Tyronne, Pa., who was born in Sicily, as were his parents.

"The bombing was a beautiful piece of work, well planned and well carried out," said Mastropalo, a Catholic.

Asked if he has any conscientious scruples against bombing the Holy City, he answered:

"Absolutely none. In fact, I was much disappointed when I found my name had been left off the list at first. I consider Rome as much a military target as any other city. We have been kicking around. Why shouldn't we bomb it?"

Dewey's election as President would at least satisfy curiosity. We'd find out what he stands for and believes in.

Hold Woman On Murder Charge

(International News Service)
TITUSVILLE, Pa., July 20.—Mrs. Caroline Hogan Marvin, 38-year-old factory worker, was held here today on a charge of murdering Harold R. Muir, 34, a roomer in Mrs. Marvin's home who was found shot to death yesterday.

District Attorney Herbert A. Mook said a coroner's inquest will be held tonight to probe the slaying. Mrs. Marvin, who has a divorce suit pending at Meadville, is reported to have said she shot Muir after he told her it "possibly" would be better if she killed him.

Says Enough Cities Will Adopt Local Retirement System

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 20.—Secretary of the Commonwealth Charles M. Morrison today predicted sufficient municipalities would adopt local retirement systems to enable the state employees retirement board to establish a system September 1 as authorized by the 1943 legislature.

Under the law, at least 25 municipalities having a minimum of 250 employees must adopt the pension plan. All employees, except persons paid on a yearly or monthly fee basis or elected officers, "must" join the retirement system. Elected officers and per diem employees can choose to enroll.

The system approved by the legislature, under a $200,000 appropriation, calls for the automatic retirement of 70-year-old employees while those reaching the age of 60 may retire.

War Job Comes First With Model

War effort on the home front means more than being a photographic model to Doris Grozik, who forsook a career as one of Chicago's top models to take a job testing aircraft carburetors in the new Chicago plant of Bendix Aviation corporation. There's plenty of reason for her desire to aid the war effort because her husband is a petty officer in the United States Navy.

Martin Hints Sales Tax Will Stop Real Estate Price Rise

By Financing Department Of Education, Sales Tax Would Relieve Part Of Burden

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 20.—Gov. Edward Martin today renewed the possibility of imposing a sales tax to aid local communities to meet increased educational costs.

A general sales levy was proposed during the 1943 session of the legislature to carry the burden of "cost of living" salary increases totaling more than $24,000,000 for Pennsylvania school teachers but abandoned after the governor voiced opposition to the plan.

In an address before the annual convention of county commissioners at Pittsburgh last night, the governor called for equitable tax assessments on real estate and speculated whether a sales tax was the solution to offset increases costs.

"In order to aid real estate in Pennsylvania," he declared, "I am wondering whether or not some tax, possibly a sales levy, could be imposed to take care of our schools and maintain the department of education to supervise, advise and assist on educational work. The state could collect such a tax and return it to the various districts.

"I am wondering also if all highway improvements, street improvements and similar improvements should not come from gasoline and motor taxes," he said. "This would leave to real estate the burden of caring for the unfortunate, local police, sanitation and the courts. A plan like this would eliminate much overlapping and duplication in government."

We promise self-government to all lands where the people are qualified for it. Must they qualify as we did?

STOCK MARKET LIST IRREGULAR

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 20.—After a steady opening, the stock market again today ran into light profit-taking, which turned the list irregularly lower. Losses, however, were generally only small fractions. Practically every group was lower with a few isolated strong spots. Oils, features yesterday, continued their advance at the opening but turned lower as trading progressed. Aviation and rails were active with losses ranging to around 1/2 point.

Some of the leaders under pressure were American Tobacco B, a particular weak spot which lost over a point at one time, U. S. Steel, United Air Lines, Pepsi-Cola and Northern Pacific.

American Radiator, International Harvester and Western Union were among the few issues to record fractional gains. U. S. Rubber as strong, moving up over a point before meeting profit-taking.

The bond market was mixed and narrow in quiet trading.

Prospect Man To Head State Rural Carriers For Year

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., July 20.—President M. F. Gallagher, of Prospect (Butler county), of the Pennsylvania Rural Letter Carriers association was virtually unopposed for reelection today as the convention's 41st annual gathering drew to a close.

Other officers expected to be nominated at the closing business session included John R. Hamm, of New Oxford, for vice-president; Harry A. Hair, of Ruffsdale, for secretary, and Harold D. Thomas, of Columbia county, for treasurer. No opposition to these men was likewise expected to develop.

Shippers-Carriers Code Is Accepted
Final acceptance of the Shippers-Carriers' code for Lawrence county was had Monday night July 19 when the monthly dinner meeting of the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck association was held in the Castleton hotel.
The code is in the nature of a "golden rule" agreement between shippers and truckers which will expedite the movement of essential freight and conserve manpower, gasoline, trucks and tires. Shippers recently accepted the code and it now becomes effective.
President J. Fred Clarke announced the Nominating committee of the chapter, to return nominations for officers at the August meeting. The committee consists of George Ritter, Walter McCormick and Lou Leddy.
The membership campaign chairman, John Loudon and William O. Mooney announced progress in the campaign and promised that by the closing date, August 16, they would show some results.

Campaign Gifts Of Corporation Heads Discussed

Senator Proposes Change In Law To Limit Contributions Of Officials, Owners

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 20.—Sen. Ernest McFarland, D. Ariz., chairman of the senate campaign funds committee, today proposed legislation to limit campaign contributions of officials and chief owners of corporations.

While corporations themselves are forbidden to make campaign contributions, the investigation of the campaign funds committee indicates that the law can be circumvented to an extent, McFarland said.

The proposed drastic change in the corrupt practices act, it was learned, grows out of campaign contributions of nearly $50,000 made in South Dakota by members of the wealthy Pew oil family of Philadelphia.

May Damage Plans
The McFarland program which might deal a heavy blow to Republican campaign plans—and also put a crimp in Democratic practices—was discussed by the campaign funds committee but referred to in its report only in general terms. The committee proposed strengthening the law with regard to campaign activities of "interstate corporations."

"A study of campaign expenses reports shows that some officials and chief owners of interstate corporations have contributed to campaigns in many states," said McFarland.

"Suppose a high official or a chief owner of a corporation makes campaign contributions which the corporation itself is forbidden to make. All the corporation has to do to reimburse him is to increase his salary or grant a bonus."

Apply To Individuals
"The law might well be changed so that it would apply in the case of gifts by policy-making officials or chief owners of corporations, as well as applying to the corporation itself."

Blood Donor Unit Closes At Bessemer

Announce Workers For Three Days Red Cross Unit Was At Bessemer

The Red Cross mobile blood donor unit set up in the Bessemer high school auditorium brought its activities to a successful close on Saturday with 466 donors and only 32 rejections.

Those responsible for the enrollment of donors and the successful operation for the three days the unit was in Bessemer were: registrars, Mrs. Irene Moser, Miss Elizabeth Miller, Mrs. Dorothy Stanley, Mrs. Dorothy Gilmore, hostesses, Mrs. Cora Murland, chairman, Mrs. Paul Kanengeiser, Mrs. Genevieve Lago, Mrs. Paul Hovis, Mrs. Twila Stanley, nurse, Catherine Sosny; canteen, Mrs. Roy Wallace, chairman, Mrs. Mary Szeicz, Mrs. Helen Summers, Mrs. Emma Shoup and a corps of workers.

Lt. Diefenbuss expressed his appreciation to the canteen chairman, Mrs. Wallace, for the high morale of the donors. The donor service chairman, Mrs. Wayne F. Davis, had the highest praise for the service rendered and for the many donors from the North Beaver and Hillsville districts. Many of the donors were from the Carbon and Lake Erie Limestone Co., at Hillsville, and the surrounding district.

G.O.P. Presidential Chances Grow As New Deal Weakens

Spangler Also Cites Republican Gains In '42 Elections, Recent Polls

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 20.—G.O.P. Chairman Harrison E. Spangler today cited Republican gains in the 1942 elections and in recent polls to support a forecast of a "Republican victory in the presidential and congressional elections next year."

"Within the last six weeks," said Spangler, "the revolt against the New Deal and Mr. Roosevelt has become more pronounced. During this time, the confusion and impotence in the administrative branch of the government has become more glaringly apparent. Bitter quarrels and violent differences of opinion among the New Deal high-ups indicate an almost entire lack of White House leadership and administration in Washington. The calculations we have made take no account of the confusion and chaos into which the country has been plunged domestically with the New Deal imposing its social experiments and fourth term ambitions into the war effort."

"There is every indication that our estimates are most conservative. Spot tests of public opinion which have been made here and there indicate a larger gain than shown by the Gallup surveys. These figures here given are therefore in our opinion, the very minimum and not the maximum."

"They give adequate basis for belief in Republican victory in the presidential and congressional elections next year."

Spangler first cited the Republican gain of nine senators, 44 representatives and five governors in the 1942 elections.

"If we had been electing a president in 1942 and the same vote had been cast for him," Spangler continued, "the Republican candidate would have received 344 votes in the electoral college against 72 for the New Deal."

BUCKNELL FRESHMAN
CIVILIANS STAMPEDE
FOR NAVY HAIRCUTS
(International News Service)
LEWISBURG, Pa., July 20.—College freshmen, with their traditional desire to become collegiate in a hurry, caused a hair-cutting stampede in Lewisburg.

Reporting at Bucknell university the same day as a large contingent of Navy V-12 trainees, some of the freshmen thought it was a campus fad when they saw hundreds of young men with their heads closely clipped in the Navy style.

Local barbers did a land-office business until the civilian students discovered there was nothing in the college regulations compelling them to part with their wavy forelocks.

Pirates Return Fielder Colman To Toronto Team

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 20.—The Pirates today returned rookie outfielder Frank Colman to the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International league on a 24-hour recall basis.

Colman goes to Toronto in exchange for Maury Van Robays, hard-hitting flycatcher whom the Bucs brought up last week to play right field.

The 24-year-old Colman was unable to strike his stride this season after suffering several leg injuries during Spring training and the first week of the campaign. He was batting .276 for 30 games.

Filipowicz Will Play With Stars

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 20.—Steve Filipowicz of Kulpmont, Pa., star back at Fordham university and now a member of the marine corps, today was announced as a member of the collegiate all-stars who will play the champion Washington Redskins on August 25 at Dyche Stadium, Evanston, Ill.

Filipowicz for three years was unanimous choice for all-eastern football honors. He starred on the east team which defeated the west in San Francisco New Year's Day. He is 22 and weighs 195 pounds.

'Freeze' Order At Illinois Tracks

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 20.—The Illinois racing board today put a "freeze" on all horse owners and employees at tracks in the state in a move reportedly designed to avert strikes.

Owners and trainers recently have complained of requirements at the Arlington Park meeting which often barred the cheaper grade of horses from competing. The mutual clerks also recently formed a union and presented demands to the Arlington Park management.

Neale Calls For Pre-Season Clashes

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—Coach Greasy Neale, of the Eagles pro football club, today called for a series of pre-season practice sessions to start tomorrow at River Field. About 15 men will be on hand, he said.

Neale declared he is on the lookout for a passer and ball-handler to replace Tommy Thompson, Eagles' quarterback who is now in the Army.

Revolver Club Meets Tonight

Sportsmen's Revolver club will hold a business session at 8 o'clock tonight following which a shoot will be staged. Prizes will be issued to winning teams and individuals.

The Fire-arms school held its weekly classes last night. Trigger squeeze and proper sight pictures were studied.

New classes will start in three weeks. Registrations are now being accepted according to Secretary C. Schweinsburg.

ROOT STILL PITCHING

He's 44 years old and he's been pitching professionally since 1921, but Charley Root, former star of the Chicago Cubs and now manager of Hollywood in the Pacific Coast league, is still showing the youngsters a thing or two.

The veteran recently was presented with the Helms Athletic Foundation medal as California's "athlete of the month" for June. He's a glutton for work and a shining example at the bat for all pitchers to follow.

Fritzie Turns Bob Down; Boxes McCoy

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 20.—Fritzie Zivic, former welter-weight champ, has said he was turning down a chance to fight lightweight king Bob Montgomery in order to meet young Kid McCoy in a 10-round return bout here August 9.

McCoy, formerly of Detroit but now of the United States Army, will receive a furlough for the fight and will arrive in Pittsburgh August first to begin training.

Zivic, who defeated Jake LaMotta of New York last week, fought a 10-round draw with McCoy in Madison Square Garden on December 12, 1941.

Lehigh Adds Penn State To Schedule

BETHLEHEM, July 20.—Two major college baseball teams have been added to the summer's diamond schedule at Lehigh—the University of Pennsylvania and Penn State. Not the least of the difficulties faced this season by Eb Caraway, faculty manager and diamond mentor, has been finding teams to play and with the booking of these two Pennsylvania teams, Eb declares his baseball card is complete.

Lehigh will travel to State College for its game with the Nittany Lions Saturday, July 24. The University of Pennsylvania has agreed to a home coming to Bethlehem August 5 for a clash on the Lehigh (or Steel) field. The locals will play a return engagement in Philadelphia August 11.

College games remaining to be played include home tilts with Princeton August 12 and Swarthmore August 21.

HOME GROWN

Pitcher Jake Niemcs and Catcher Al Lakeman, Reds, are Cincinnati boys.

Private Sale of Land Formerly Sold for Taxes.
Notice hereby is given that Fred Corral, of R. F. D. No. 6, New Castle, Pa., has offered for sale by public auction (550.00) Dollars, for the purchase of three (3) lots, No. 98, 99 and 100 in the Gibsondale Addition, situated in Shenango Township, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, the plot of which is recorded in Plot Book vol. 7, page 17, said lots being more fully described as follows:

Bounded on the North by Lot No. 101 a distance of 120 feet; on the East by lots numbered 110, 111, 112 and 113 a distance of 162.44 feet; on the South by lots numbered 93 and 94 in said plot a distance of 131.08 feet and on the West by Woodrow street a distance of 109.45 feet, and being part of the lands conveyed to the purchaser, said owner, the Empire Realty Company by deed recorded in Deed Book vol. 257, page 192.

Said Fifty ($50.00) Dollars to be paid in cash.

Said lots were sold to the County of Lawrence by the County Treasurer as the property of Empire Realty Company by said deed of February 16th, 1940, and recorded in Treasurer's Deed Book vol. 7, page 144, and the County Commissioners have said County have presented their petition to the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, at No. 99 September Term, 1942, M.D., wherein they pray for an order of Court to have said lots sold and the Court has fixed a hearing on the matter of the approval of said sale on the 28th day of July, 1943, at 9 o'clock A.M.

The undersigned, C. Clark Neff, Paul Reynolds, R. W. Thompson, Howard Fleeger and Warren R. Groot, of the County of Lawrence, Ohio, are acting as the Price Panel and will act as secretary for the Price Panel and handle the daily routine of activities.

Mr. Luke explained how the local Price Panel expected to function which is through an education program and also informed the grocers that no "snooping" would be done in any grocery stores by any member of the panel. If a price complaint was received by the Price Panel concerning a certain store, the member of the panel would investigate and everything will be worked out in the open. Price Panel members also understand that local grocers are paying producers as much for commodities as the OPA consumer ceiling price calls for. The Price Panel Board set up here was welcomed by all the grocers as it will then be handled on a local scale by local citizens who understand the consumer and grocer problems.

Andrew Homiak of the Pittsburgh OPA and conciliator for the Price Panels of this section of Pennsylvania, was to have addressed the grocers but did not appear and far no information concerning his not appearing has been received.

City-Wide Scrap Drive Is Planned

ELLWOOD CITY, July 20.—A city-wide scrap drive will be put on by the local air raid posts starting next Monday and continuing through the week until the entire town is covered.

Last fall civilian defense air raid wardens and fire watchers collected around 100 tons of the scrap in a short campaign. District steel mills are in dire need of scrap and every home is urged to round up the scrap that is lying around the house or garage and have it put out on the curb by next Monday.

All proceeds from the scrap will be used to carry on the needs of the local air raid posts.

Private Sale of Land Formerly Sold for Taxes.
Notice hereby is given that Fred Corral, of R. F. D. No. 6, New Castle, Pa., has offered for sale by public auction (550.00) Dollars, for the purchase of three (3) lots, No. 98, 99 and 100 in the Gibsondale Addition, situated in Shenango Township, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, the plot of which is recorded in Plot Book vol. 7, page 17, said lots being more fully described as follows:

Bounded on the North by Lot No. 101 a distance of 120 feet; on the East by lots numbered 110, 111, 112 and 113 a distance of 162.44 feet; on the South by lots numbered 93 and 94 in said plot a distance of 131.08 feet and on the West by Woodrow street a distance of 109.45 feet, and being part of the lands conveyed to the purchaser, said owner, the Empire Realty Company by deed recorded in Deed Book vol. 257, page 192.

Said Fifty ($50.00) Dollars to be paid in cash.

Said lots were sold to the County of Lawrence by the County Treasurer as the property of Empire Realty Company by said deed of February 16th, 1940, and recorded in Treasurer's Deed Book vol. 7, page 144, and the County Commissioners have said County have presented their petition to the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, at No. 99 September Term, 1942, M.D., wherein they pray for an order of Court to have said lots sold and the Court has fixed a hearing on the matter of the approval of said sale on the 28th day of July, 1943, at 9 o'clock A.M.

The undersigned, C. Clark Neff, Paul Reynolds, R. W. Thompson, Howard Fleeger and Warren R. Groot, of the County of Lawrence, Ohio, are acting as the Price Panel and will act as secretary for the Price Panel and handle the daily routine of activities.

Mr. Luke explained how the local Price Panel expected to function which is through an education program and also informed the grocers that no "snooping" would be done in any grocery stores by any member of the panel. If a price complaint was received by the Price Panel concerning a certain store, the member of the panel would investigate and everything will be worked out in the open. Price Panel members also understand that local grocers are paying producers as much for commodities as the OPA consumer ceiling price calls for. The Price Panel Board set up here was welcomed by all the grocers as it will then be handled on a local scale by local citizens who understand the consumer and grocer problems.

Andrew Homiak of the Pittsburgh OPA and conciliator for the Price Panels of this section of Pennsylvania, was to have addressed the grocers but did not appear and far no information concerning his not appearing has been received.

Lutheran Men Meet On Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 20.—Last night members of the Brotherhood of the Trinity Lutheran church assembled at the church boy scout camp at Stamm's farm for the regular July meeting.

Arthur Dambaugh was the leader and presented the topic, "Recreation."

Business was in charge of Andrew Zekel with plans being made to entertain the church boy scout troop at the lodge on Monday, August 16. The event will be in the form of a camp and dinner.

An informal hour concluded the meeting after which a wiener roast was featured.

Past Noble Grands Gather For Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, July 20.—Past Noble Grands of the Rebekah Lodge enjoyed a delightful tureen dinner last night at Ewing Park. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Joseph H. Moore, and assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Moon.

Bingo held the attention of the twenty guests with the prizes being claimed by Mrs. Edith Gordon and Mrs. Eunice Aust.

Mrs. May Cunningham was a guest, and Mrs. Bernice Minnett was welcomed as a new member.

Urge Republicans Back Cooperation Among Nations

GOP Post-War "Pressure Group" Favor More Perfect Union Of United Nations

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 20.—Repul-cans of the country were urged Monday by Senator Warren R. Austin (R) of Vermont to swing behind a movement for post-war collaboration of the United Nations to maintain peace after victory.

Senator Austin, speaking before the eastern conference of the Republican Post-War Association, advocated that the armed forces of the United Nations—each based on its home grounds—unite with corresponding forces of other collaborating countries to maintain peace and order.

"Our first objective is security,"
he declared.

About 150 delegates were present from a dozen states—New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire, Delaware, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

The association was frankly described by the chairman, Deneen A.
Watson, Chicago lawyer, as "a pressure group" on the international question.

Dewey, Willkie Absent

Neither Thomas E. Dewey nor Wendell Willkie, both mentioned as possible candidates for the Republican presidential nomination in 1944, were present. Watson previously had explained to the press that the association was not committed to any particular G. O. P. candidate for the presidential nomination, but was interested in seeing that the candidate was in favor of post-war international cooperation.

Senator Austin said that in his opinion victory should connote a more perfect union, though not conformity, of the United Nations.

"We could start," he asserted,
"with collaboration between China, Russia, Great Britain and the United States in the organization of a world council to codify the fundamental rules of international conduct, a judicial tribunal for the determination of controversies between two or more nations, and a military power great enough to prevent disturbance of the peace.

New Horizon Seen

"Each member of that union would serve best its vital interests through all-for-one and one-for-all action. We lift our sights to a new horizon."

In his keynote speech, Chairman
Watson pleaded with the delegates to heed this warning: "Don't let our dislike of Mr. Roosevelt's policies blind us as we approach the question of international cooperation."

"First of all," said Watson, "we owe it to our country not to do this.
Secondly, let's be smart political strategists for a change."

"I take it that we Republicans would rather elect a Republican president than simply vent our spleen on the opposition candidate.
There can be no doubt that the majority of the Republican rank and file is sincerely for international cooperation."

LEVEL OF ERIE RISES IN JUNE

ASHTABULA, July 20.—Speculation of Ashtabula county residents regarding the Lake Erie water level is answered by a report from the Detroit office of the United States Lake Survey, which shows a rise of one and one-half feet above the level in June, 1942.

Lake Erie in June of this year was 3.65 feet above the low stage recorded in June, 1934.

Considerable change in lake front beaches has been observed in the county as a result of the rise in the lake level.

At Ashtabula's municipally-owned Walnut Beach, a large section of sand beach formerly used as a parking area is now under water.

At Lake Shore Park the water has been over the retaining wall on several occasions when the lake
"kicked up". Bathers now find deep water for swimming only a few feet off shore.

At many points west of Ashtabula
—and in the Geneva-on-the-Lake district—the bank now is awash at places where there was considerable beach in previous years.

This wash of the clay banks is responsible for the dirty condition of the water this year.

Will Speak At Conference Here

Calvary Gospel Tabernacle has reported a steady increase in interest and attendance at its five-week eighth annual summer Bible conference. Conference attendants thus far have heard Rev. M. A. Mc-Cone, of Peoria, Ill., and Rev. Mar-mon L. Lowe of Bible School Park, N. Y., as speakers.

This week a special young people's Bible feast will be featured, with Joe Marone, of New York as a singer and preacher. Rev. R. J. Fredericks, pastor of the tabernacle, announces that services will be held nightly, Tuesday through Friday, at 7:45 o'clock, and Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Throughout the last war, only 241 tanks were used by American troops in combat areas, and those were made chiefly in England and France.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Post 6-2, Sampson street, will convene at 8 o'clock tonight. Members should submit names of prospective members. A basket picnic July 25, place not named yet, has been arranged. All wardens, fire-watchers, messengers and prospective members as it is decided upon.

Persons to whom U. S. (O. C. D.) equipment is held responsible for the equipment. A helmet was found in a trash can—which is, to say the least, the last place, where it should be. It is at OCD headquarters.

Group leaders should hold an inspection at various times to receive an accounting of material.

Martin Urges Equal Real Estate Levies

Governor Emphasizes Need To Protect Investors From Unfair Increases

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 20.—Gov.
Edward Martin today urged uniform real estate assessments to "encourage investments in this basic resource upon which so much depends."

In an address before the annual convention of county commissioners at Pittsburgh last night, the governor pointed out that inequitable levies were dangerous to both individuals and taxing authorities.

He stated:

"Equitable assessment of real estate depends to a large extent upon the instructions given to the assessors by the county commissioners and upon the sound common sense you use in supervising the returns made by the assessors."

"In 1912 the assessed value of taxable real estate in Pennsylvania was about $4,500,000,000. In 1940 it was over $8,500,000,000. In 28 years we had lifted the assessed value of this basic resource by more than $4,000,000,000."

"We must remember that this
"power to tax is the power to destroy." If taxes are not fairly and equitably distributed, certain enterprises are damaged and many of our citizens are injured. Much of the progress and soundness of industry and business depends upon our tax policies."

The demands made upon government and by government have meant a dangerous increase in the cost of government. In the last few years this has been really alarming. It has been so great that even before the war we were mortgaging our future as a nation and as a people."

TAXI DRIVER GOES IN CIRCLES UNDER O.P.A. REGULATIONS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 20.—A Harrisburg taxi driver was literally going around in circles one night prior to a baseball game between the Washington Senators and the New Cumberland Reception Center.
He would pull away from the curb with a fare and then circle an intersection and return to the taxi stand after he would find out that people were trying to get to the game in a cab in violation of O.P.A. regulations.

Limited Service Men To Be Reclassified From 4-F To 1-A-L

New Listing Will Clarify Draft Standing Of Those With Slight Physical Defects

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 20.—A new classification, 1-A-L, will become effective August 1 for men whose slight physical defects qualify them for limited service only. Lieut. Col.
George H. Hafer, acting director of selective service, announced today.

Registrants "previously found acceptable for limited service by induction stations" will be reclassified 1-A-L and drafted according to their numbers. Not more than five per cent of any call will be filled by the new class.

1-A-L registrants not accepted by the induction board will be reclassified 4-F until defects are declared remedied by a selective service medical advisory board.

Hafer said the new plan is to eliminate repetitious sending of limited service men to induction centers thereby assuring an orderly flow of registrants with minor physical defects into the armed forces, establishing a reliable status for the men, and reducing the work of local draft boards.

AAA Issues Digest Of Vacation Permits

Only 'A' Coupons May Be Used For Vacation Travel
By Automobile

Rules covering the issuance of vacation permits by local ration boards have been clarified by the American Automobile Association and today a digest of them was released by B. N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor Club.

Ration boards can issue permits single round trips to be completed within 1943 provided alternative means of transportation is not available. The permit to travel is issued by the board having jurisdiction over the area in which the vehicle in question is normally gar-aged.

The maximum round trip distance of the trip is gauged by the amount of gasoline in the tank and the number of "A" tickets held by the person requesting the permit.
A full allotment of "A" book mil-age which covers a period of four months would mean 180 miles.

To get the permit an applicant must show that he has sufficient gasoline in his tank or a sufficient number of coupons. "A" books cannot be pooled by relatives or friends.

If the vacation is spent at home in a restricted area the permit cannot be used for driving to a golf course, swimming pool or the like.
"B" and "C" books cannot be used for vacation driving.

The ODT asks that all trips to be made by rail be started in the middle of the week and finished in the middle of the week due to heavy week end travel.

College Girl Is Now 'Postman'

Innovation At Westminster College As Girl Starts Carrying Mail

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, July 20.—
Something new has been added at Westminster college. When the army and navy claimed most of Westminster's manpower, Miss Dorothy Bruley, freshman journalism major from Grantwood, N. J., volunteered to take over a man's job and is now carrying the college mail.

Miss Bruley has the honor of being the first post-woman in the history of Westminster college. At 9:30 in the morning and 2:30 in the afternoon, six days a week, Dorothy drags her heavy leather bag full of letters from the post office to Miss Mercer's office, then to different offices, and the dormitories.
She picks up the college mail and makes a return trip to the post office.

"No, I don't have to do any sorting; Miss Mercer, secretary to the president, does that. All I have to do is hand them out and take clever remarks like 'so that's why
I haven't been getting mail lately'.
Sometimes I have to make extra trips, but I don't think the exercise will make me lose any weight."

Besides her postwoman job, Dorothy is carrying a full six-hour summer school schedule.

MUSSOLINI ALONE TO BLAME FOR BOMBING OF ROME BY ALLIES

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., July 20.—Blame for the bombing of Rome was placed squarely upon the shoulders of Mussolini Monday by Bishop James Joseph Hartley of the Columbus Catholic diocese. He said Mussolini could have prevented it with a single word.

"Naturally no one in America wants to see any city bombed, much less Rome with its priceless treasures," said Bishop Hartley, "but since Mussolini has made it a military target, then it is up to the heads of our army to decide what points are military targets."

Many times a visitor to Rome before the war, the 65-year-old bishop added:

"The whole trouble over there in Rome today is that those fellows are licked and don't know it."

GERTRUDE NIESSEN WED AT LAS VEGAS

(International News Service)

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 20.—
Gertrude L. Niessen, star of radio, stage and screen, was honeymoon-ing in Las Vegas today with Albert Greenfield, Chicago restaurant operator, after a surprise marriage yesterday in Nevada's Greta Green.

For the radio singer, who gave her age as 26, it was the first venture into matrimony.

HIGHWAY CONDITIONS TO BE BEST POSSIBLE, RURAL CARRIERS TOLD

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., July 19.—State Highway Secretary John U. Shroyer
Monday assured delegates to the 41st annual convention of the Pennsylvania Rural Letter Carriers Association that every possible effort will be made to maintain highways in proper condition despite wartime restrictions.

Shroyer, speaking at the opening session here, commended the carriers and referred to them as the "nerves of the nation who are in closer contact with people at large than any other group."

Several hundred delegates are attending the two-day convention.
Sessions of the women's auxiliary are being held simultaneously.

Mother Decides 13 Children Job Enough

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 20.—Mrs.
Cecelia Wega, 39, has decided taking care of a household of 13 children is enough of a job for one woman, even the most ambitious.

Mrs. Wega, of Castle Shannon, was given a two-week leave from her war job in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards at Conway to find someone other than her 17-year-old daughter, Agnes, who could keep house for the children.

Her leave was up today but she didn't report for work. The humane society first brought Mrs. Wega to public attention by claiming the woman could not hold a job and provide a proper home for her numerous offspring at the same time.

When a sailor is on the beach for keeps, it means he is through with the sea.
